private industry studied advanced STOVL propulsion ideas but without tangible result. It was only when the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency at the request of the Marine Corps issued study contracts for a supersonic STOVL fighter to American industry that real progress began to be made. It was Lockheed Martin that finally came up with a design that resulted in the remarkable F 35, also known as the Joint Strike Fighter. In this book G. Randall Keijsper explores the long and difficult journey that customers led to buying the Lockheed Martin F 35. G. Randall reveals the story of the F 35 in service and why it is often described as an international aircraft. First flown on 15 December 2006, the F 35 achieved Initial Operational Capability with the US Marine Corps in July 2015, being followed soon after in August 2016 by the USAF. The US Navy meanwhile reached this milestone in February 2019. Other nations that have since purchased the F 35 include the United Kingdom for both the RAF and the Royal Navy, Israel, under which service the type undertook its first combat mission in 2018, Australia, Denmark, the Netherlands, Norway, Japan, South Korea, and Italy. There is also a long list of potential customers. This then is a fascinating and highly illustrated study of the F 35 in service, which in Lockheed Martin's own words is the most lethal, survivable, and connected fighter jet in the world. Air Force Magazine, 2015. Montgomery Modern: Modern Architecture in Montgomery County, Maryland, 1930-1979.
