

5. Observing class members shared a classroom during conference and participants received the book and their reflections were incorporated in the design/development of the curriculum. Thus, the initial, ongoing consultation process of this project, which began a classroom teacher, through the initial group of initial people, should see the design/development of the book, the design of the project, consultation with the classroom teacher and the design of the project, and the design of the project.

5. Subscribers need clear, concise communication regarding subscription services that customers can access online. Two focus group sessions were conducted by telephone, lasting approximately one hour each. Each session included a brief overview of the study's purpose, a discussion of current research on the importance of the customer's role in the subscription service, and a discussion of the study's objectives. The sessions were held in a secure, confidential environment, and all participants were given the opportunity to ask questions and provide feedback.

8. Journal Quarterly (Chicago) is a literary-religious journal that, "drawing to the forefront of the scene" the great religious and literary figures of the past, "presents and publishes the most important religious ideas" (the authorship is as yet unknown: the issue accompanying it).

18. "After one or two years in the laboratory, they [the researchers] proceeded to give wild female baboons artificial ovaries to," which again indicates that there is a clear difference between laboratory studies involving baboons and studies that involve female baboons in the wild. Specifically, the researchers' studies in the laboratory involved the removal of the baboons' ovaries and the use of artificial ovaries, but when the baboons were in the wild, the researchers could not remove the ovaries. This again suggests that when the subjects are removed to the laboratory, they are being treated differently than when they are in the wild. Thus, the researchers' study of the baboons' behavior is flawed by the difference in the treatment of the baboons in the laboratory and in the wild.
