LAB: Human Population Growth & Demography

Objective: Predict how variables have different effects on population growth rates, calculate and graph changes for a given population. (AP Academic Standards, Environmental Science: III-B.)

Pre-Lab Background:

How will our population grow? If you were a demographer, you might be asked to determine how a population is likely to change in the future. You have learned that both the number of children per family and the age at which people have children affects the rate of population growth. But which factor has a greater effect? To explore this question, you will use age-structure diagrams - also called population pyramids. Use the one below as the basis for this lab.

Materials:

Calculator
Pen/Pencil

Colored Pencils/Markers
Ruler

Graph Paper
Initial Data (Provided)

Procedures:

1. In this activity you will calculate future population trends for an imaginary city called Doc Island. To compare how fertility variables may affect population growth, each group of students will test the effects of different assumptions. Assume the following about the population of this city.

Assumption About the Population

- Half the population is male and half is female.
- Every woman will have all of her children during a given five-year period of her life.
- Everyone who is born will live to the age of 85 and then die.
- No one will move into or out of the city.

Simmons,1989 Human Ring Chromosomes Peining Li,Thomas Liehr,2024-03-19 This book presents chromosome wise clinical cases following an evidence based protocol in addition to providing the scientific background on the mechanisms of human ring chromosome RC formation Presence of RCs in a genome can lead to several rare genetic diseases This book edited by the leading experts Prof Peining Li and Prof Thomas Liehr is the first comprehensive book on this topic Over the past 60 years banding cytogenetics fluorescence in situ hybridization chromosome microarray analysis and whole genome sequencing have been used to diagnose cases with a RC Ring syndrome of severe growth retardation and variable intellectual disability has been considered a common clinical feature for all RCs. Clinical heterogeneity of chromosome specific deletion and duplication syndromes, gene related organ and tissue defects, cancer predisposition to different types of tumors and reproduction failure has been reported in the literature. However, the cases of RCs reported in the literature account for less than 1% of its real occurrence. Current diagnostic practice lacks laboratory standards for analyzing cellular behavior and genomic imbalances of RCs to evaluate its compound effects on patients. The under representation of clinical cases and the lack of comprehensive diagnostic analysis make it challenging to establish accurate clinico cytogenomic correlations. Given recent advances in genomic technology and organized efforts from peer experts, standardized cytogenomic diagnosis and evidence based clinical management could be envisioned for all patients with RCs. Furthermore, supernumerary small ring chromosomes and the patient's perspective are addressed the latter by including family stories of RC carrier relatives. Acquired RCs in various cancers are also discussed as well as the potential role of RCs in research applications like iPSC cellular modeling and genomic editing. This book is a valuable reference for clinical geneticists, personnel in cytogenetics and molecular genetics laboratories, genetic counselors and researchers in related fields.

Based on the AHFE 2016 International Conference on Human Factors and Ergonomics in Healthcare held on July 27-31, 2016 in Walt Disney World, Florida, USA, the book is intended as a timely reference guide for both researchers involved in the design of healthcare systems and devices and healthcare professionals aiming at effective and safe health service delivery. Moreover, by providing a useful survey of cutting edge methods for improving organizational outcomes in healthcare settings, the book also represents an inspiring reading for healthcare counselors and international health organizations.
