My Diary, August 30th to November 5th, 1874 Cornelia Wadsworth Adair, 1965 My Diary Cornelia Wadsworth Adair, Montagu K. Brown, 2014 A woman's diary of a buffalo hunting trip in the American west Texas Women and Ranching Deborah M. Liles, Cecilia Gutierrez Venable, 2019-01-24 Winner 2020 Liz Carpenter Award For Best Book on the History of Women The realm of ranching history has long been dominated by men from tales tall or true of cowboys and cattlemen to a century's worth of male writers and historians who have been the primary chroniclers of Texas history As women's history has increasingly gained a foothold not only as a field worthy of study but as a bold and innovative way of understanding the past new generations of scholars are rethinking the once familiar settings of the past In doing so they reveal that women not only exercised agency in otherwise constrained environments but were also integral to the ranching heritage that so many Texans hold dear Texas Women and Ranching On the Range at the Rodeo and in Their Communities explores a variety of roles women played on the western ranch The essays here cover a range of topics from early Tejana businesswomen and Anglo philanthropists to rodeos and fence cutting range wars The names of some of the women featured may be familiar to those who know Texas ranching history Alice East and Frances Kallison for example Others came from less well known or wealthy families In every case they proved themselves to be resourceful women and unique individuals who survived by their own wits in cattle country This book is a major contribution to several fields Texas history western history and women's history that are at last beginning to converge A Day at a Time Margo Culley, 1985 Gathers diary selections describes the historical background of each writer and discusses the changing function and content of diaries Home on the Rails Amy G. Richter, 2006-03-13 Recognizing the railroad's importance as both symbol and experience in Victorian America Amy G Richter follows women travelers onto trains and considers the consequences of their presence there For a time Richter argues nineteenth century Americans imagined the public realm as a chaotic and dangerous place full of potential where various groups came together collided and influenced one another for better or worse The example of the American railroad reveals how by the beginning of the twentieth century this image was replaced by one of a domesticated public realm a public space in which both women and men increasingly strove to make themselves at home Through efforts that ranged from the homey touches of railroad car decor to advertising images celebrating female travelers and legal cases sanctioning gender segregated spaces travelers and railroad companies transformed the railroad from a place of risk and almost unlimited social mixing into one in which white men and women alleviated the stress of unpleasant social contact Making themselves at home aboard the trains white men and women domesticated the railroad for themselves and paved the way for a racially segregated and class stratified public space that freed women from the home yet still preserved the railroad as a masculine domain A History of the JA Ranch Harley True Burton, 1928 Texas Women Writers Sylvia Ann Grider, Lou Halsell Rodenberger, 1997 A critical survey of over 150 years of Texas women writers including fiction and nonfiction authors poets and dramatists Nature's Noblemen Monica Rico, 2013-07-16 DIV In this fascinating book Monica Rico explores the myth of the American West in the nineteenth century as a place for men to assert their masculinity by roughing it in the wilderness and reveals how this myth played out in a transatlantic context Rico uncovers the networks of elite men British and American who circulated between the West and the metropolises of London and New York Each chapter tells the story of an individual who by traveling these transatlantic paths sought to resolve anxieties about class gender and empire in an era of profound economic and social transformation All of the men Rico discusses from the well known including Theodore Roosevelt and Buffalo Bill Cody to the comparatively obscure such as English cattle rancher Moreton Frewen envisioned the American West as a global space into which redemptive narratives of heroic upper class masculinity could be written div The Southwestern Historical Quarterly ,1929 Journal of the West Lorrin L. Morrison, Carroll Spear Morrison, 1967
