Key Debates in the Translation of Advertising Material Beverly Adab,Cristina Valdes,2016-04-01 Much has been written about the marketing aspects of promotional material in general and several scholars particularly in linguistics have addressed questions relating to the structure and function of advertisements focusing on images rhetorical structure semiotic functions discourse features and audio visual media amongst other aspects of the genre Not much on the other hand has been written within translation studies about the complexities involved in the transfer of an advertising message Contributors to this volume explore various interdependent aspects of the interlingual and intercultural transfer of an advertising message They emphasize features of culture specificity of multi medial semiotic interaction of values and stereotypes and most importantly they recommend strategies and approaches to assist translators Topics covered include a critique of the Western based approach to advertising in the context of the Far East different perceptions of the concept of cleanliness in advertising texts in Italy Russia and the UK the Walls Cornetto strategy of internationalization of product appeal followed by localization the role of the translator in recreating appeal in different lingua cultural contexts what constitutes Italianness in advertisements for British consumers and strategies for repackaging France as a tourist destination

The Road to a United Europe Ann-Christina L. Knudsen,2009 Papers from the Second International RICHIE Conference held in Copenhagen Denmark in December 2006

Writing Human Factors Research Papers Don Harris,2016-12-05 Writing high quality papers suitable for publication within international scientific journals is now an essential skill for all early career researchers their career progression and the reputation of the department in which they work depends upon it However many manuscripts are rejected or sent back for major re working not because the science they contain is in any way bad but because the same problems keep occurring in the way that the material is presented It is one thing to write a good scientific paper however it is quite another thing to get it published This requires some additional nous In writing this book Don Harris draws upon nearly a quarter of a century of experience as an author and reviewer of research papers and ultimately as a journal editor By his own admission it contains all the things he wished that his mentors had told him 25 years ago but didn't. The material in the book is drawn from many years of finding all these things out for himself usually by trial and error but mostly error. The text adopts a much lighter touch than is normally found in books of this type after all who really wants to read a book about writing research papers. The author describes his own unique approach to writing journal papers which in his own words has proved to be extremely successful. All major points are illustrated with examples from his own published works. The book is written in the form of a manual for constructing a journal manuscript: read a chapter write a section. However the material it contains goes beyond just this and also describes how to select a target journal, the manuscript submission process, what referees are looking for in a good journal paper and how to deal with the referees' comments. Each chapter concludes with a checklist to ensure all the key elements have been addressed.

Cost Management in Supply Chains Stefan Seuring, Maria Goldbach, 2013-03-09. Supply Chain Management and Cost Management are important developments helping companies to respond to increased global competition and demanding customer needs. Within the 23 chapters of the book more than 35 authors provide insights into new concepts for cost control in supply chains. The frameworks presented are illustrated with case studies from the automotive, textile, white goods and transportation industry as well as from retailing. Academics will benefit from the wide range of approaches presented while practitioners will learn from the examples how their own company and the supply chains which they compete in can be brought to lower costs and better performance.

Automotive Steels Radhakanta Rana, Shiv Brat Singh, 2016-11-26. Automotive Steels: Design, Metallurgy, Processing and Applications explores the design, processing, metallurgy and applications of automotive steels. While some sheet steels are produced routinely in high volume today there have been significant advances in the use of steel in the automotive industry. This book presents these metallurgical and application aspects in a way that is not available in the current literature. The editors have assembled an international team of experts who discuss recent developments and future prospects for automotive steels, compiling essential reading for both academic and industrial metallurgists, automotive design engineers and postgraduate students attending courses on the metallurgy of automotive materials. Presents recent developments on the design, metallurgy, processing and applications of automotive steels. Discusses automotive steels that are currently in the early stages of research such as low density and high modulus steels that are driving future development. Covers traditional steels, advanced high strength steels, elevated Mn steels and ferrous composite materials.
