Foucault The Politics Of Hearing Interventions:

Foucault and the Politics of Hearing Lauri Siisiäinen, 2013 The issue of the senses and sensual perception in Michel Foucault's thought has been a source of prolific discussion already for quite some time. Often Foucault has been accused of overemphasizing the centrality of sight and has been portrayed as yet another thinker representative of Western ocularcentricism. This innovative new work seeks to challenge this portrait by presenting an alternative view of Foucault as a thinker for whom the sound voice hearing and listening the auditory sonorous actually did matter. Illustrating how the auditory sonorous relates most integrally to the most pertinent issues of Foucault the intertwinement and confrontations of power knowledge and resistance the book both presents novel readings of some of Foucault's most widely read and commented on works such as Discipline and Punish the first volume of History of Sexuality and discusses the variety of his lectures essays and interviews some of which have not been noted before. Moving beyond a commentary on Foucault Siisiäinen goes on to examine other philosophers and political thinkers including Roland Barthes Jean-Luc Nancy and Jacques Rancière in this context in order to bring to the fore the potentials in Foucault's work for the generation of a new perspective for the political genealogy of the sound hearing and listening approaching the former as a key locus of contemporary political struggles. This work will be of great interest to students and scholars in a range of areas including political theory philosophy and cultural studies.

War, Police and Assemblages of Intervention Jan Bachmann, Colleen Bell, Caroline Holmqvist, 2014-11-13 This book reflects on the way in which war and police policing intersect in contemporary Western led interventions in the global South. The volume combines empirically oriented work with ground breaking theoretical insights and aims to collect for the first time thoughts on how war and policing converge amalgamate diffuse and dissolve in the context both of actual international intervention and in understandings thereof. The book uses the caption WAR POLICE to highlight the distinctiveness of this volume in presenting a variety of approaches that share a concern for the assemblage of war police as a whole. The volume thus serves to bring together critical perspectives on liberal interventionism where the logics of war and police policing blur and bleed into a complex assemblage of WAR POLICE. Contributions to this volume offer an understanding of police as a technique of ordering and collectively take issue with accounts of the character of contemporary war that argue that war is simply reduced to policing. In contrast the contributions show how both historically and conceptually the two are always already connected. Contributions to this volume come from a variety of disciplines including international relations war studies geography anthropology and law but share a critical poststructuralist approach to the study of international intervention war and policing. This volume will be useful to students and scholars who have an interest in social theories on intervention war security and the making of international order.

International Intervention in a Secular Age Audra Mitchell, 2014-04-03 International intervention is not just about saving human lives it is also an attempt to secure humanity's place in the universe. This book explores the Western secular beliefs that underpin contemporary practices of intervention most importantly beliefs about life death and the dominance of humanity These beliefs shape a wide range of practices the idea that human beings should intervene when human lives are at stake analyses of violence and harm practices of intervention and peace building and logics of killing and letting die Ironically however the Western secular desire to ensure the meaningfulness of human life at all costs contributes to processes of dehumanization undercutting the basic goals of intervention To explore this paradox International Intervention in a Secular Age engages with examples from around the world and draws on interdisciplinary sources anthropologies of secularity and IR posthumanist political philosophy ontology and the sociology of death This book offers new insight into perennial problems such as the reluctance of intervenors to incur fatalities and international inaction in the face of escalating violence It also exposes new dilemmas such as the dehumanizing effects of quantifying casualties Western secular logics of killing and the appropriation of lives and deaths through peace building processes It will be of great interest to students and scholars of international relations political philosophy international ethics and social anthropology

Foucault & the Politics of Hearing Lauri Siisiäinen, 2012-08-21 The issue of the senses and sensual perception in Michel Foucault's thought has been a source of prolific discussion already for quite some time Often Foucault has been accused of overemphasizing the centrality of sight and has been portrayed as yet another thinker representative of Western ocularcentricism This innovative new work seeks to challenge this portrait by presenting an alternative view of Foucault as a thinker for whom the sound voice hearing and listening the auditory sonorous actually did matter Illustrating how the auditory sonorous relates most integrally to the most pertinent issues of Foucault the intertwinement and confrontations of power knowledge and resistance the book both presents novel readings of some of Foucault's most widely read and commented on works such as Discipline and Punish the first volume of History of Sexuality and discusses the variety of his lectures essays and interviews some of which have not been noted before Moving beyond a commentary on Foucault Siisiäinen goes on to examine other philosophers and political thinkers including Roland Barthes Jean Luc Nancy and Jacques Rancière in this context in order to bring to the fore the potentials in Foucault's work for the generation of a new perspective for the political genealogy of the sound hearing and listening approaching the former as a key locus of contemporary political struggles This work will be of great interest to students and scholars in a range of areas including political theory philosophy and cultural studies

Biosecurity Interventions Andrew Lakoff, Stephen J Collier, 2008-10-21 In recent years new disease threats such as SARS avian flu mad cow disease and drug resistant strains of malaria and tuberculosis have garnered media attention and galvanized political response Proposals for new approaches to securing health against these threats have come not only from public health and medicine but also from such fields as emergency management national security and global humanitarianism This volume provides a map of this complex and rapidly transforming terrain The editors focus on how experts public officials and health practitioners work to define what it means to secure health through concrete practices such as global humanitarian logistics pandemic preparedness measures vaccination campaigns and attempts to regulate potentially dangerous new biotechnologies. As the contributions show, despite impressive activity in these areas, the field of biosecurity interventions remains unstable. Many basic questions are only beginning to be addressed: Who decides what counts as a biosecurity problem? Who is responsible for taking action, and how is the efficacy of a given intervention to be evaluated? It is crucial to address such questions today when responses to new problems of health and security are still taking shape. In this context, this volume offers a form of critical and reflexive knowledge that examines how technical efforts to increase biosecurity relate to the political and ethical challenges of living with risk.

On the Advantages and Disadvantages of Ethics and Politics Charles E. Scott, 1996-10-22. A remarkable account of the impact of postmodern philosophy on the question of ethics and politics, commendable also for its balanced view of Heidegger's relationship to politics and ethics, an excellent account of Heidegger's philosophical understanding of technology. Choice. This book takes as its point of departure the question of ethics that values and their pursuit in the West often perpetuate their own worst enemies. At issue are the dangers in the structures and movements of images, values, and ways of knowing that are most intimately a part of our lives.

Politics and the Human Body Jean Bethke Elshtain, J. Timothy Cloyd, 1995. Who or what determines the right to die? Do advancing reproductive technologies change reproductive rights? What forces influence cultural standards of beauty? How do discipline, punishment, and torture reflect our attitudes about the human body? In this challenging new book, Jean Bethke Elshtain, a nationally recognized scholar in political science and philosophy, and J. Timothy Cloyd, a strong new voice in social and political science, have assembled a collection of thought-provoking essays on these issues written by some of the finest minds of our day.

The Promise of Green Politics Douglas Torgerson, 1999. An exploration of the relationship between the means and the ends in green politics.

Listening for Democracy Andrew Dobson, 2014. This book examines the reasons why so little attention has been paid to the listening aspect of democratic conversation, explores the role that listening might play in democracy, and outlines some institutional changes that could be made to make listening more central to democratic processes.

Postmodern War Chris Hables Gray, 2013-11-12. Postmodern War poses an urgent challenge to the ways we conceptualize and actually wage war in our high technology age. Computerization and artificial intelligence have brought about a revolution in warfare, spawning both increasingly powerful weapons and a rhetoric which disguises their apocalyptic potential in catch phrases like smart weapons and bloodless combat. Postmodern War examines contemporary practices of war, defining and critiquing trendy military doctrines hidden behind phrases like Infowar and Cyberwar, the roles of those who manipulate high technology, those who are manipulated by it, and those who are increasingly merging with it, the role of peace activists and socially responsible scientists in countering dangerous assumptions made by a postmodern military. Far from opposing technological change, however, Gray finds new hopes for peace in the twenty-first century. Provocative and far-reaching in its scope, the book argues that postmodern war has left us poised between the most dreadful and most utopian of alternatives we may eradicate either the human race or war itself Writing Deafness Christopher Krentz, 2012-09-01

Taking an original approach to American literature Christopher Krentz examines nineteenth century writing from a new angle that of deafness which he shows to have surprising importance in identity formation The rise of deaf education during this period made deaf people much more visible in American society Krentz demonstrates that deaf and hearing authors used writing to explore their similarities and differences trying to work out the invisible boundary analogous to Du Bois's color line that Krentz calls the hearing line Writing Deafness examines previously overlooked literature by deaf authors who turned to writing to find a voice in public discourse and to demonstrate their intelligence and humanity to the majority Hearing authors such as James Fenimore Cooper Lydia Huntley Sigourney Herman Melville and Mark Twain often subtly took on deaf related issues using deafness to define not just deaf others but also themselves as competent and rational helping form a self consciously hearing identity Offering insights for theories of identity physical difference minority writing race and postcolonialism this compelling book makes essential reading for students of American literature and culture deaf studies and disability studies Urban Interstices: The Aesthetics and the Politics of the In-between Andrea Mubi

Brighenti, 2016-02-11 Bringing together a team of international scholars with an interest in urban transformations spatial justice and territoriality this volume questions how the interstice is related to the emerging processes of partitioning enclave making and zoning showing how in between spaces are intimately related to larger flows networks territories and boundaries Illustrated with a range of case studies from places such as the US Quebec the UK Italy Gaza Iraq India and South east Asia the volume analyses the place and function of interstitial locales in both a disciplined urban space and a disordered space conceptualized through the notions of excess danger and threat Warning not to romanticize the interstice the book invites us to study it as not simply a place but also a set of phenomena events and social interactions How are interstices perceived and represented What is the politics of visibility that is applied to them How to capture their peculiar rhythms speeds and affects On the one hand interstices open up venues for informality improvisation challenge and bricolage playful as well as angry statements on the neoliberal city and enhanced urban inequalities On the other hand they also represent a crucial site of governance even governance by withdrawal and urban management where an array of techniques ranging from military urbanism to new forms of value extraction are experimented At the point of convergence of all these tensions interstices appear as veritable sites of transformation where social forces clash and mesh prefiguring our urban future The book interrogates these territories proposing new ways to explore the dynamics events and visibilities that define them

Multi-level Governance Katherine A. Daniell, Adrian Kay, 2017-11-24 Important policy problems rarely fit neatly within existing territorial boundaries More difficult still individual governments or government departments rarely enjoy the power resources and governance structures required to respond effectively to policy challenges under their responsibility These dilemmas impose the requirement to work with others from the public private non governmental organisation NGO or community spheres and across a range of administrative levels and sectors But how This book investigates the challenges both conceptual and practical of multi level governance processes It draws on a range of cases from Australian public policy with comparisons to multi level governance systems abroad to understand factors behind the effective coordination and management of multi level governance processes in different policy areas over the short and longer term Issues such as accountability politics and cultures of governance are investigated through policy areas including social environmental and spatial planning policy The authors of the volume are a range of academics and past public servants from different jurisdictions which allows previously hidden stories and processes of multi level governance in Australia across different periods of government to be revealed and analysed for the first time Feminist Responses to Injustices of the State and its Institutions Kym Atkinson,Úna Barr,Helen Monk,Katie Tucker,2022-11-17 From the denial of abortion rights in Ireland to sexual violence against British South Asian women in England the state and its institutions continue to fail women This book offers a counter narrative to contemporary injustices and a persistent culture of victim blaming The academic and activist contributions to this collection explore contemporary research areas and pursue new discursive directions in order to present a feminist criminology built on feminist praxis for the 21st century Providing a direct challenge to regressive and ineffective theory policy and practice this book resists the politics of gendered victimization through extending feminist analyses of the state and documenting interventions into contemporary injustices Argument and Change in World Politics Neta Crawford,2002-07-25 Arguments have consequences in world politics that are as real as the military forces of states or the balance of power among them Neta Crawford proposes a theory of argument in world politics which focuses on the role of ethical arguments in fostering changes in long standing practices She examines five hundred years of history analyzing the role of ethical arguments in colonialism the abolition of slavery and forced labour and decolonization Pointing out that decolonization is the biggest change in world politics in the last five hundred years the author examines ethical arguments from the sixteenth century justifying Spanish conquest of the Americas and from the twentieth century over the fate of Southern Africa The book also offers a prescriptive analysis of how ethical arguments could be deployed to deal with the problem of humanitarian intervention Co winner of the APSA Jervis Schroeder Prize for the best book on international history and politics Mad Studies Reader Bradley Lewis,Alisha Ali,Jazmine Russell,2024-09-30 The last few years have brought increased writings from activists artists scholars and concerned clinicians that cast a critical and constructive eye on psychiatry mental health care and the cultural relations of mental difference With particular focus on accounts of lived experience and readings that cover issues of epistemic and social injustice in mental health discourse the Mad Studies Reader brings together voices that advance anti sanist approaches to scholarship practice art and activism in this realm Beyond offering a theoretical and historical overview of mad studies this Reader draws on the perspectives voices and experiences of artists mad pride activists humanities and social science scholars and critical clinicians to explore the complexity of mental life and mental difference. Voices from these groups confront and challenge standard approaches to mental difference. They advance new structures of meaning and practice that are inclusive of those who have been systematically subjugated and promote anti-sanist approaches to counter inequalities, prejudices and discrimination. Confronting modes of psychological oppression and the power of a few to interpret and define difference for so many, the Mad Studies Reader asks the critical question of how these approaches may be reconsidered, resisted and reclaimed. This collection will be of interest to mental health clinicians, students and scholars of the arts, humanities and social sciences and anyone who has been affected by mental difference directly or indirectly who is curious to explore new perspectives. The Violence of Law Jens Meierhenrich, 2024-04-30 Lawfare describes the systematic use and abuse of legal procedure for political ends. This provocative book examines this insufficiently understood form of warfare in post-genocide Rwanda where it contributed to the making of dictatorship. Jens Meierhenrich provides a redescription of Rwanda's daring experiment in transitional justice known as inkiko gacaca. By dissecting the temporally and structurally embedded mechanisms and processes by which change agents in post-genocide Rwanda manoeuvred to create modified legal arrangements of things past, Meierhenrich reveals an unexpected jurisprudence of violence. Combining nomothetic and ideographic reasoning, he shows that the deformation of the gacaca courts and thus the rise of lawfare in post-genocide Rwanda was not preordained but the outcome of a violently structured contingency. The Violence of Law tells a disturbing tale and will appeal to scholars, advanced students and practitioners of international and comparative law, African studies and human rights. Questioning the Foundations of Public Law Michael A. Wilkinson, Michael W. Dowdle, 2018-05-17 In 2010 Martin Loughlin, Professor of Public Law at the LSE, published Foundations of Public Law, an account of the foundation of the discipline of public law with a view to identifying its essential character. The book has become a landmark in the field and it has been said, notably by one of its major critics, that it now provides the starting point for any deeper inquiry into the subject. The purpose of this volume is to engage critically with Foundations conceptually, comparatively and historically from the viewpoints of public law, private law, political, social and legal theory as well as jurisdictional perspectives including the UK, US, India and Continental Europe. Scholars also consider the legacy and continuing relevance of Foundations in the light of developments in transnational law, global law and regional integration in the European Union. The Powers of Sensibility Michael Feola, 2018-07-15 The Powers of Sensibility: Aesthetic Politics through Adorno, Foucault and Rancière explores the role aesthetic resources can play in an emancipatory politics. Michael Feola engages both critical theory and unruly political movements to challenge familiar anxieties about the intersection of politics and aesthetics. He shows how perception, sensibility and feeling may contribute vital resources for conceptualizing citizenship, agency and those spectacles that increasingly define global protest culture. Feola provides insightful engagements with the works of Adorno, Foucault and Rancière as well as a survey of contemporary debates on aesthetics and politics. He uses this aesthetic framework to develop a more robust account of political agency.

demonstrating that politics is not reducible to the exchange of views or the building of institutions but rather incorporates public modes of feeling seeing and hearing or not seeing and not hearing These sensory modes must themselves be transformed in the work of emancipatory politics The book explores the core question what does the aesthetic offer that is missing from the official languages of politics citizenship and power Of interest to readers in the fields of critical theory political theory continental philosophy and aesthetics The Powers of Sensibility roots itself within the classical tradition of critical theory and yet uses these resources to speak to a variety of contemporary political movements

Food Policy and Practice in Early Childhood Education and Care Francesca Vaghi, 2023-11-24 This book is about food and feeding in early childhood education and care offering an exploration of the intersection of children's food education family intervention and public health policies The notion of good food for children is often communicated as a matter of common sense by policymakers and public health authorities yet the social material and practical aspects of feeding children are far from straightforward Drawing on a detailed ethnographic study conducted in a London nursery and children's centre this book provides a close examination of the practices of childcare practitioners children and parents asking how the universalism of policy and bureaucracy fits with the particularism of feeding and eating in the early years Looking at the unintended consequences that emerged in the field such as contradictory public health messaging and arbitrary policy interventions the book reveals the harmful assumptions about disadvantaged groups that are perpetuated in policy discourse and challenges the constructs of individual choice and responsibility as main determinants of health Children's food practices at the nursery are examined to explore the notion that whilst for adults it is what children eat that often matters most to children it is how they eat that is more important This book contributes to a growing body of literature evidencing how children's food is a contested domain in which power relations are continuously negotiated This raises questions not only on how children can be included in policy beyond a tokenistic involvement but also on what children's well being might mean beyond the biomedical sphere The book will particularly appeal to students and scholars in food and health food policy childhood studies and medical anthropology Policymakers and non governmental bodies working in the domains of children's food and early years policies will also find this book of interest
