Race and Restoration Barclay Key,2020-05-06 From the late nineteenth century to the dawn of the civil rights era the Churches of Christ operated outside of conventional racial customs Many of their congregations even deep in the South counted whites and blacks among their numbers As the civil rights movement began to challenge pervasive social views about race Church of Christ leaders and congregants found themselves in the midst of turmoil In Race and Restoration Churches of Christ and the Black Freedom Struggle Barclay Key focuses on how these churches managed race relations during the Jim Crow era and how they adapted to the dramatic changes of the 1960s Although most religious organizations grappled with changing attitudes toward race the Churches of Christ had singular struggles Fundamentally restorationist these exclusionary churches perceived themselves as the only authentic expression of Christianity compelling them to embrace peoples of different races even as they succumbed to prevailing racial attitudes The Churches of Christ thus offer a unique perspective for observing how Christian fellowship and human equality intersected during the civil rights era Key reveals how racial attitudes and practices within individual congregations elude the simple categorizations often employed by historians Public forums designed by churches to bridge racial divides offered insight into the minds of members while revealing the limited progress made by individual churches Although the Churches of Christ did have a more racially diverse composition than many other denominations in the Jim Crow era Key shows that their members were subject to many of the same aversions prejudices and fears of other churches of the time Ironically the tentative biracial relationships that had formed within and between congregations prior to World War II began to dissolve as leading voices of the civil rights movement prioritized desegregation

At-Home Seminary Rich O'Brien,2025-07-15 My goal upon entering Moody s MABS program was then as it is now to know God better and to love Him more Before completing the program I began praying to know what God had in mind for me next While praying I realized that some if not much of the biblical knowledge I had recently gained would likely slip from my mind if I did not take steps to prevent that I was then led to compile my written assignments into a well organized anthology As I prayerfully worked on that project I realized that the finished product could well serve as a Christian discipleship or small group study That led me to prayerfully consider making the project available to everyone Now along with WestBow Press I am blessed to invite you to embark on a journey through your own At Home Seminary TPT
