First Edition Amir Khorram-Manesh, 2017-10-10 We propose here a comprehensive educational program based on the best available evidence to date drawn from recent publications intended to impart the knowledge skills and abilities necessary for the role of crisis manager We expect this program to enhance the intercultural and interagency performance across the Disaster Management DM cycle Here Intercultural does not refer to different nations and cultural backgrounds but rather to working cultures within diverse agencies Since communication and information shortcomings are the most common reason for failed DM this educational program focuses heavily on collaboration and interoperability between trained professionals involved in disaster response to ensure that they understand the need for collaboration and are aware of each other's limitations and possibilities The aim of programs such as this is not to re educate people in respect to their profession area of expertise but rather to train them in elements specific to DM and ways in which they can apply their existing knowledge and professional expertise in the disaster context Such multidisciplinary programs cover all disaster phases accommodate the needs of each organization and offer a safe environment where participants are able to learn by doing in an interactive environment vertically within their own organization and horizontally together with other organizations by focusing on shared training cooperation and intercultural understanding Such programs bring some degree of standardization and offer a thorough evaluation of participants and the program by using evidence based scientific methods One important part of the program is to offer a standardized handbook in which all necessary information is gathered This is not intended as a substitute for reference books but it is intended to make the information accessible and easy to learn so that the information can be combined with the practical parts of the education

Handbook of Disaster and Emergency Management (Second Edition) Amir Khorram-Manesh, Krzysztof Goniewicz, Attila Hertelendy, Maxim Dulebenets, 2021-10-06 Disasters and public health emergencies are increasing Climate change transportation incidents increasing numbers of mass gatherings chemical and technical incidents increasing number of armed conflicts and terrorism are some of the major reasons for this increasing pattern Any of these events may result in severe casualties destruction of infrastructures and create a situation in which the number of victims may exceed available resources Much of the knowledge in disaster medicine is based on the lessons learned However it has been proven that no lessons learned theoretically can be of practical use if the knowledge is not tested in an appropriate environment In this perspective the major clinical excellence and testing laboratories for disaster response are the scenes where disasters happen Yet most of the research and reports in the field are produced in high income countries while most of the disasters happen in middle or low income countries There is thus a need to bring these two environments together in order to translate theory into practice and among people who are highly exposed and involved in the multidisciplinary management of a disaster or major incident Hazardous Materials Emergency
