Landlocked Islands: Two Alien Lives in Egypt Anna Cachia,Pierre Cachia,2000-01-01 This is a highly unusual and beautifully written book It is the double memoir of a mother and son Anna and Pierre and the story takes us from Anna's childhood in Russia and subsequent arrival in Egypt in 1901 to Pierre's enrollment at the American University in Cairo in the late 1930s It is fascinating therefore not only as a personal account of an interesting group of people but also as a social document that portrays a segment of Egypt's society in the first forty years of the twentieth century As a personal story it is a rewarding insight into the early formation of a leading well known and respected Arabist His mother's account of her own early life and tragedies reveals a remarkable woman we would wish to have known As a social document it gives us a rare perhaps unique picture of the life of foreigners in Egypt who were not part of the elite privileged ruling class revealing much about the choices that were available to them in education career marriage and social mixing Landlocked Islands thus offers the social historian a study of some minorities in Egypt during the first half of the twentieth century it also opens up the whole question of expatriate life in Egypt But above all it is an entertaining and intriguing tale a book that one constantly finds oneself eager to pick up and read Alien Hunters: A Space Opera Trilogy Daniel Arenson,2015 Got trouble with

The 1980s: A Decade of Contemporary British Fiction Philip Tew, Emily Horton, Leigh Wilson, 2014-02-27 How did social cultural and political events in Britain during the 1980s shape contemporary British fiction

Setting the fiction squarely within the context of Conservative politics and questions about culture and national identity this volume reveals how the decade associated with Thatcherism frames the work of Kazuo Ishiguro Martin Amis and Graham Swift of Scottish novelists and new diasporic writers How and why 1980s fiction is a response to particular psychological social and economic pressures is explored in detail Drawing on the rise of individualism and the birth of neo liberalism contributors reflect on the tense relations between 1980s politics and realism and between elegy and satire Noting the creation of a heritage industry during the decade the rise of the historical novel is also considered against broader cultural changes Viewed from the perspective of more recent theorisations of crisis following both 9 11 and the 21st century financial crash this study makes sense of why and how writers of the 1980s constructed fictions in response to this decade s own set of fundamental crises
