Ronenbaum, 2016-06-22 Legal education is currently undergoing a paradigm shift Traditional law instruction lecturing and memorizing have become a fading fashion with legal clinics increasingly cropping up These allow law students to practice while studying and to contribute to social justice as part of the educational process Students no longer accept one way interaction from their professors and demand interaction with their peers in various corners of the globe The Middle East is no exception here Legal clinics can be found in most countries of the region though there is scant literature on legal education in the area particularly with regards to clinical legal education This book fills this gap and offers comparative cases that will benefit legal educators and justice practitioners in the Middle East and beyond The region needs reform in all dimensions including the political economic social religious legal and educational Legal education lies at the heart of securing such long awaited reforms The book examines legal education within selected locations in the region underscoring successful pedagogical models from various parts of the world This peer reviewed book focuses on practical legal education where learning is student centered particularly clinical legal education field work street law pro bono service legal advice simulations placements internships moot courts and mock trials problem based learning case analysis group work role play and brainstorming The book brings together 28 chapters written by leading legal scholars from across the globe all concerned with the advancement of legal education with making it more interactive and contributing to bridging the gap between powerful and powerless communities Proceedings of CSCL '95 John L. Schnase, Edward L. Cunnius, 1995 Human and Mediated Communication around the World Marieke de Mooij, 2013-10-07 This book is unique in the sense that it offers a comprehensive review and analysis of human communication and mediated communication around the world This is one of the first attempts to do so in a systematic comprehensive way It challenges the assumption that Western theories of human communication and mass communication have universal applicability It surveys the applicability of mass communication theories to other than Western cultures The book explains the influence of culture on all forms of communication behavior be it personal mediated or mass communication It presents communication theories from around the world incorporating a vast body of literature from Europe Asia Africa and Latin America This updated information on important international perspectives that includes both interpersonal and mediated communication is presently not readily available in other sources The book offers an integrated approach to understanding the working of electronic means of communication that are hybrid media combining human and mediated communication These new media that are often presented as universal are even more culture bound than the traditional media
