1. Define the following terms in your own word. Be clear and concise!

| metabolism               | sum of all the chemical processes in an organism                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| substrate                | the substance that an enzyme works on ie. food, production of hydrogen, DNA                                                                                                                                                                          |
| enzyme                   | a chemical, usually a protein, that lowers the activation energy of a reaction without being consumed by the reaction. It might change shape during the reaction but returns back to what it was afterwards. Enzymes are specific to particular substrates. |
| enzyme-substrate complex | enzyme joined to substrate                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| active site              | the place on the enzyme that actually binds with the substrate                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| coenzyme                 | A coenzyme is a substance that works with an enzyme to initiate or aid the function of the enzyme. Coenzymes cannot function on their own and require the presence of an enzyme.                                                              |
| metabolic pathway        | a series of chemical reactions within cells, mediated by enzymes                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| activation energy        | the energy needed (endergonic) to initiate a chemical reaction.                                                                                                                                                                                             |

2. Label the diagram to the left

- substrate
- active site
- enzyme
- products
- enzyme substrate complex

the enzyme + substrate together!

3. Answer true or false to the following statements:

- ☐ Enzymes interact with specific substrates.
- ☐ Enzymes change shape after a reaction occurs.
- ☐ Enzymes speed up reactions.
- ☒ One enzyme can be used for many different types of chemical reactions. No. They are "specific"
- ☐ Enzyme reactions can be slowed or halted using inhibitors.

4. Circle the correct effect.

- Raising the temperature slightly will [ increase ] [ decrease ] [ not change ] the rate of reaction.
- Boiling temperature will [ increase ] [ decrease ] [ not change ] the rate of reaction.
- Changing the pH toward the optimal pH will [ increase ] [ decrease ] [ not change ] the rate of reaction.
- Introducing a competitive inhibitor will [ increase ] [ decrease ] [ not change ] the rate of reaction.

5. Place a check mark next to the things that are expected to INCREASE the rate of an enzymatic reaction

- ☒ Add more enzyme
- ☒ Add more substrate
- ☒ Adjust pH to optimal level
- ☐ Add a non competitive inhibitor
- ☐ Freezing slows down, ex. putting food in freezer to preserve.
