Fundamental Use of the Michigan Terminal System (Including Simple MTS BASIC) Thomas J. Schriber, 1981 Acts of Conscience Steven J. Taylor, 2009-07-10 In the mid to late 1940s a group of young men rattled the psychiatric establishment by beaming a public spotlight on the squalid conditions and brutality in our nation's mental hospitals and training schools for people with psychiatric and intellectual disabilities Bringing the abuses to the attention of newspapers and magazines across the country they led a reform effort to change public attitudes and to improve the training and status of institutional staff Prominent Americans such as Eleanor Roosevelt ACLU founder Roger Baldwin author Pearl S Buck actress Helen Hayes and African American activist Mary McLeod Bethune supported the efforts of the young men These young men were among the 12 000 World War II conscientious objectors who chose to perform civilian public service as an alternative to fighting in what is widely regarded as America's good war Three thousand of these men volunteered to work at state institutions where they discovered appalling conditions Acting on conscience a second time they challenged America's treatment of its citizens with severe disabilities Acts of Conscience brings to light the extraordinary efforts of these courageous men drawing upon extensive archival research interviews and personal correspondence The World War II conscientious objectors were not the first to expose public institutions and they would not be the last What distinguishes them from reformers of other eras is that their activities have faded from the

Sustainability on Campus Peggy F. Barlett, Geoffrey W. Chase, 2004-04-02 Stories both practical and inspirational about environmental leadership on campus These personal narratives of greening college campuses offer inspiration motivation and practical advice Written by faculty staff administrators and a student from varying perspectives and reflecting divergent experiences these stories also map the growing strength of a national movement toward environmental responsibility on campus Environmental awareness on college and university campuses began with the celebratory consciousness raising of Earth Day 1970 Since then environmental action on campus has been both global in research and policy formation and local in efforts to make specific environmental improvements on campuses The stories in this book show that achieving environmental sustainability is not a matter of applying the formulas of risk management or engineering technology but part of what the editors call the messy reality of participatory engagement in cultural transformation In Sustainability on Campus campus leaders recount inspiring stories of strategies that moved eighteen colleges and universities toward a more sustainable future This book is for faculty students administrators staff and community partners whether hesitant or committed knowledgeable or newcomer Scholars and activists have recognized the crucial role that higher education can play in the sustainability effort and each chapter in the book is full of ideas about how to get started revitalize efforts and overcome roadblocks Human and at times joyful these stories illustrate many forms of leadership in new courses and faculty development green buildings and administrative policies student programs residential life and collaborations with local communities
