Harris, 2019-11-26 Designing a research project is possibly the most difficult task a dissertation writer faces It is fraught with uncertainty what is the best subject What is the best method For every answer found there are often multiple subsequent questions so it s easy to get lost in theoretical debates and buried under a mountain of literature This book looks at literature review in the process of research design and how to develop a research practice that will build skills in reading and writing about research literature skills that remain valuable in both academic and professional careers Literature review is approached as a process of engaging with the discourse of scholarly communities that will help graduate researchers refine define and express their own scholarly vision and voice This orientation on research as an exploratory practice rather than merely a series of predetermined steps in a systematic method allows the researcher to deal with the uncertainties and changes that come with learning new ideas and new perspectives The focus on the practical elements of research design makes this book an invaluable resource for graduate students writing dissertations Practicing research allows room for experiment error and learning ultimately helping graduate researchers use the literature effectively to build a solid scholarly foundation for their dissertation research project

Early Reading

Instruction Diane McGuinness, 2006-01-20 Early Reading Instruction is a comprehensive analysis of the research evidence from early writing systems to computer models of reading In this book Diane McGuinness provides an innovative solution to the reading war the century old debate over the efficacy of phonics sound based versus whole word meaning based methods She has developed a prototype a set of elements that are critical to the success of a reading method McGuinness shows that all writing systems without exception are based on a sound unit in the language This fact and other findings by paleographers provides a platform for the prototype Other elements of the prototype are based on modern research For example observational studies in the classroom show that time spent on three activities strongly predicts reading success learning phoneme symbol correspondences practice at blending and segmenting phonemes in words and copying writing words phrases and sentences Most so called literacy activities have no effect and some like sight word memorization have a strongly negative effect The National Reading Panel 2000 summarized the research on reading methods after screening out thousands of studies that failed to meet minimum scientific standards In an in depth analysis of this evidence McGuinness shows that the most successful methods children reading a year or more above age norms include all the elements in the prototype Finally she argues because phonics type methods are consistently shown to be superior to whole word methods in studies dating back to the 1960s it makes no sense to continue this line of research The most urgent question for future research is how to get the most effective phonics programs into the classroom School Library Management Gail K.
