Republic of Shame Caelainn Hogan, 2019-09-12

At least in The Handmaid's Tale they value babies mostly. Not so in the true stories here. Margaret Atwood's furious necessary book Sin and Gleeson's Until alarmingly recently the Catholic Church acting in concert with the Irish state operated a network of institutions for the concealment punishment and exploitation of fallen women. In the Magdalene laundries girls and women were incarcerated and condemned to servitude. And in the mother and baby homes women who had become pregnant out of wedlock were hidden from view and in most cases their babies were adopted, sometimes illegally. Mortality rates in these institutions were shockingly high and the discovery of a mass infant grave at the mother and baby home in Tuam made news all over the world. The Irish state has commissioned investigations. But the workings of the institutions and of the culture that underpinned it, a shame industrial complex, have long been cloaked in secrecy and silence. For countless people a search for answers continues.

Caelainn Hogan, a brilliant young journalist born in Ireland that was only just starting to free itself from the worst excesses of Catholic morality, has been talking to the survivors of the institutions, to members of the religious orders that ran them, and to priests and bishops. She has visited the sites of the institutions and studied Church and state documents that have much to reveal about how they operated. Reporting and writing with great curiosity, tenacity, and insight, she has produced a startling and often moving account of how an entire society colluded in this repressive system and of the damage done to survivors and their families.

In the great tradition of Anna Funder's Stasiland and Barbara Demick's Nothing to Envy: Real Lives in North Korea, both winners of the Samuel Johnson Prize, Republic of Shame is an astounding portrait of a deeply bizarre culture of control. Aching, powerful. There will be many people who don't want to read Republic of Shame for fear it will be too much, too dark, too heavy. Please don't be afraid. Read it. Look it in the eye. Irish Times: A must read for everyone.

Lynn Ruane: Republic of Shame is a careful, sensitive, and extremely well-written book, but it is harrowing. It would break your heart in two.

Ailbhe Smyth: Hogan's captivatingly written stories of people who were consigned to what she calls the shame industrial complex puts faces, many old, now, and lined with pain, to the clinical data.

Brilliant Sunday Times: Utterly brilliant. Please read it.

Marian Keyes: Riveting, immensely insightful, and horrifically recognisable. Emma Dabiri: A sensitive, can't look away book.

Through moving stories Hogan shows how the past is still present NPR Motion Picture Story Magazine ,1922
