were still alive Denial can be a powerful thing my mother had once said I believe it was in the context of someone's rumored drug and or alcohol addiction but for me in that fear addled fall of 1979 it became something more something akin to an obsession or even a psychosis something which rendered me deaf dumb and blind to the reports of wreckage having been spotted by a private flight out of Honolulu in the wee hours of Christmas morning to the reports of the victims of the Mangler having been mauled as if by an animal mauled and partially eaten Indeed I had even begun looking forward to introducing them to Jenny when they were finally picked up from Gilligan's Island which is how I imaged their circumstances had even selected a date New Years 1980 the day the call would come The day the news would be announced that survivors had been found and that they were in good health the day we would drive to the airport in Grandma's black GTO and watch my parents descend the steps like soldiers returning from Vietnam their faces tanned from the South Pacific their necks adorned with leis In the end however the New Year brought news of a different sort though news that struck home regardless for the latest victim of the Mangler turned out to be Stuart Dalton himself decorated veteran local hero for his service in Vietnam and a close personal friend of our parents so close that we were invited to his funeral where I ended up in line behind his widow for the viewing of the casket a casket which had been draped with a veil to prevent scrutiny of the body Even now some forty years later it would be difficult to describe what I felt that day as Song Li offered her final words and her husband lay hidden beneath the gauze and the reality of what had occurred what had been occurring ever since the death of the convict came crashing down as Song said goodbye to her darling Stuart and I said hello to reality for the first time in months possibly even since my parents had disappeared and knew though the thought of it tore me down the middle what had to be done If that was I could even find the portal If that was I could find my friend
