Proceedings of the 2011 International Conference on Informatics, Cybernetics, and Computer Engineering (ICCE2011) November 19-20, 2011, Melbourne, Australia Liangzhong Jiang, 2011-11-24 The volume includes a set of selected papers extended and revised from the International Conference on Informatics Cybernetics and Computer Engineering An information system IS or application landscape is any combination of information technology and people's activities using that technology to support operations management. In a very broad sense the term information system is frequently used to refer to the interaction between people, algorithmic processes, data, and technology. In this sense the term is used to refer not only to the information and communication technology (ICT) an organization uses but also to the way in which people interact with this technology in support of business processes. Some make a clear distinction between information systems and computer systems. ICT and business processes. Information systems are distinct from information technology in that an information system is typically seen as having an ICT component. It is mainly concerned with the purposeful utilization of information technology. Information systems are also different from business processes. Information systems help to control the performance of business processes. Computer engineering, also called computer systems engineering, is a discipline that integrates several fields of electrical engineering and computer science required to develop computer systems. Computer engineers usually have training in electronic engineering, software design, and hardware/software integration instead of only software engineering or electronic engineering. Computer engineers are involved in many hardware and software aspects of computing, from the design of individual microprocessors, personal computers, and supercomputers to circuit design. This field of engineering not only focuses on how computer systems themselves work but also how they integrate into the larger picture. ICCE 2011 Volume 2 is to provide a forum for researchers, educators, engineers, and government officials involved in the general areas of Information system and Software Engineering to disseminate their latest research results and exchange views on the future research directions of these fields. 81 high quality papers are included in the volume. Each paper has been peer reviewed by at least 2 program committee members and selected by the volume editor. Special thanks to editors staff of association and every participants of the conference.
