

A large, stylized illustration of a fish, possibly a salmon, is positioned horizontally across the middle of the cover. The fish is rendered in light blue and white tones, with its head pointing towards the left. The background is a gradient of light blue and white, with soft, wavy lines suggesting water or a natural environment. The fish's body is elongated and tapers towards the tail, which is visible on the right side. The overall design is clean and modern, with a focus on the fish as the central subject.
