Abstract

[illegible]

Handwritten:
The document is a copy of a handwritten letter from the author to the editor of the journal. The letter is dated 19th March 1964 and is addressed to the Editor, The Journal of the Royal Society of Medicine, 11, St Andrews Place, Regents Park, London, N.W.1. The letter is written in ink on a piece of paper that is slightly aged and has some minor staining. The handwriting is in a cursive script, typical of the mid-20th century. The letter is enclosed in a green envelope, which is partially visible at the top and bottom edges. The envelope has a small, rectangular label on the front, which is also green and has some text on it, but it is not clearly legible. The letter itself is a single page, and the text is written in a clear, legible hand. The letter is a request for the publication of a paper, and it mentions the title of the paper, 'The effect of the administration of a certain drug on the rate of growth of the rat'. The letter also mentions the author's name, 'Dr. J. H. D. Jones', and his address, '1, St. Andrews Place, Regents Park, London, N.W.1'. The letter is signed 'Yours faithfully, J. H. D. Jones' and is dated '19th March 1964'. The letter is a typical example of a handwritten letter from a scientist to a journal editor, and it is a good example of the style of handwriting used in the mid-20th century.
