

N°33H

MONAURAL POWER AMPLIFIER

Each monaural N°33H weighs in at 175 pounds (over 80 kg) and takes advantage of a vertically oriented industrial design that reduces the floor space the amplifier would otherwise require. Rated at 150 watts into an 8-ohm-load, the Mark Levinson N°33H delivers extraordinary power to the complex impedances of actual loudspeakers. Each monaural amplifier chassis employs four 60,000 μ F capacitors for a total of almost 1/4 Farad of capacitance. A fully balanced power amplifier from input to output, the N°33H optimizes the reproduction of today's finest sources. It achieves common mode (noise) rejection in the loudspeaker's voice coil, protecting the entire portion of the signal chain for which it is responsible from radiated and other forms of common mode noise.

Technical Background

Fully Balanced Power Supply: The N°33H uses two independent, bipolar power supplies to support the fully balanced nature of the amplifier from input to output. These are taken from a single 3.417 kVA custom transformer, using multiple taps to maintain the symmetrical nature of the two bipolar supplies. Since each amplifier is monaural, you can count on symmetry at the transformer for the noninverting and inverting sides of the same signal. This stands in contrast to "stereo" amplifiers which share a single transformer between dissimilar amplifier channels, wherein crosstalk through the power supply presents problems.

AC Regeneration: One of the most significant features of the N°33H amplifiers is the presence of the AC Regeneration system, which siphons off a portion of the \pm DC power from the main supply, using it to power an oscillator circuit that generates pure sine wave AC. Having created this absolutely clean AC source, we then rectify it, filter it, and regulate it as you would expect in any high quality power supply. But because the AC power we began with was textbook-perfect, the quality of the resulting \pm DC for the sensitive voltage gain stages is unrivaled. In effect, we create our own small power utility for the purposes of feeding the power supply of the voltage gain
