Buss,2006-01-01 Why does it seem as if everyone is writing memoirs and particularly women The current popularity of memoir verifies the common belief that we each have a story to tell And we do especially women Memoirs are not only representations of women's personal lives but also of their desire to repossess important parts of our culture in which women's stories have not mattered Beginning with her own motivations for writing memoirs Helen M Buss examines the many kinds of memoir written by contemporary women memoirs about growing up memoirs about traumatic events about relationships about work In writing memoirs these women publicly assert that their lives have mattered They reshape the memoir a form as old as the middle ages and as young as today into a social discourse that blends the personal with the political the self with the significant other literature with history and fiction with autobiography and essay Buss urges readers to use their reading experience to help themselves understand and write the significance of their own lives Repossessing the World is the first book length critical inquiry into women s use of a form that has often been dismissed as less important than autobiography less professional than the novel and less intellectual than the formal essay Buss demonstrates that the memoir makes its own art not only through selective borrowing from these genres but also through the unique way that the tripartite narrative voice of the memoir constructs the personal and public experience of the memorist as significant to our cultural moment

Daring Jordana Pomeroy, 2025-07-29 The dramatic life story of Elisabeth Vig e Le Brun one of the greatest portrait painters of all time Supremely talented and strategically charming Elisabeth Vig e Le Brun 1755 1842 overcame tragedy and broke gender barriers to reach the height of success as a portrait painter first in Paris and then across Europe After losing her father at age twelve and facing financial insecurity she fought to gain access to artistic training and opportunity She was pressured to marry at age twenty to an art dealer who both helped and harmed her career Vig e Le Brun deployed her intelligence and beauty to attract powerful clients who relied on her to style the personal identities they projected to the world Vig e Le Brun s salons were the talk of Paris and she became court painter to Marie Antoinette Then came the French Revolution when marginalized groups demanded change to centuries old systems of oppression Vig e Le Brun was forced to reexamine her alliances and run for her life taking her young daughter but leaving her husband behind Making her way through the countrysides and capitals of Europe and Russia including a stay at the imperial court of Catherine the Great the artist conquered fear and adversity to refashion her life and art Ages thirteen and up

Last Things Marissa Moss, 2017-05-01 Last Things is the true and intensely personal story of how one woman coped with the devastating effects of a catastrophic illness in her family Using her trademark mix of words and pictures to sharp effect Marissa Moss presents the story of how she her husband and her three young sons struggled to maintain their sense of selves and wholeness as a family and how they continued on with everyday life when the earth shifted beneath their feet After returning home from a year abroad Marissa s husband Harvey was diagnosed with ALS The disease progressed quickly and Marissa was soon consumed with caring for Harvey while trying to keep life as normal as possible for her young children

ALS stole the man who was her husband the father of her children and her best friend in less than 7 months This is not a story about the redemptive power of a terminal illness It is a story of resilience of how a family managed to survive a terrible loss and grow in spite of it Although it s a sad story it s powerfully told and ultimately uplifting as a guide to strength and perseverance to staying connected to those who matter most in the midst of a bleak upheaval If you ve ever wondered how you would cope with a dire diagnosis this book can provide a powerful example of what it feels like and how to come through the darkness into the light Last Things is one of the most amazingly poignant and honest memoirs graphic or otherwise I ve ever encountered This book which I read in one insatiable sitting tore my heart in two Moss handles the material with such a delicate sensibility both with her drawings and her text I couldn t help but let her carry me along on her journey of love and loss Katie Hafner contributing writer to The New York Times and author of Mother Daughter Me A Memoir Good

Daughter Jasmin Darznik,2025-05-01 We were a world of two my mother and I until I started turning into an American girl That s when she began telling me about The Good Daughter It became a taunt a warning an omen Jasmin Darznik came to America from Iran when she was only three years old and she grew up knowing very little about her family s history When she was in her early twenties on a day shortly following her father s death Jasmin was helping her mother move a photograph fell from a stack of old letters The girl pictured was her mother She was wearing a wedding veil and at her side stood a man whom Jasmin had never seen before At first Jasmin s mother Lili refused to speak about the photograph and Jasmin returned to her own home frustrated and confused But a few months later she received from her mother the first of ten cassette tapes that would bring to light the wrenching hidden story of her family s true origins in Iran Lili s marriage at thirteen her troubled history of abuse and neglect and a daughter she was forced to abandon in order to escape that life The final tape revealed that Jasmin s sister Sara The Good Daughter was still living in Iran In this sweeping poignant and beautifully written memoir Jasmin weaves the stories of three generations of Iranian women into a unique tale of one family s struggle for freedom and understanding The result is an enchanting and unforgettable story of secrets betrayal and the unbreakable mother daughter bond The Story's Not Over Victoria Aarons,2025-05-27 The diverse forms and structures of graphic narratives discussed in this volume by a range of international scholars demonstrate the ways in which Jewish women s graphic narratives reach into the past by way of stories and histories both individual and collective that provide a touchstone for the shape of identity A Stranger's Journey David Mura,2018-08-01 Long recognized as a master teacher at writing programs like VONA the Loft and the Stonecoast MFA with A Stranger s Journey David Mura has written a book on creative writing that addresses our increasingly diverse American literature Mura argues for a more inclusive and expansive definition of craft particularly in relationship to race even as he elucidates timeless rules of narrative construction in fiction and memoir His essays offer technique focused readings of writers such as James Baldwin ZZ Packer Maxine Hong Kingston Mary Karr and Garrett Hongo while making compelling connections to Mura s own life and work as a Japanese American writer In A Stranger's Journey Mura poses two central questions The first involves identity How is writing an exploration of who one is and one's place in the world Mura examines how the myriad identities in our changing contemporary canon have led to new challenges regarding both craft and pedagogy Here like Toni Morrison's Playing in the Dark or Jeff Chang's Who We Be A Stranger's Journey breaks new ground in our understanding of the relationship between the issues of race literature and culture The book's second central question involves structure How does one tell a story Mura provides clear insightful narrative tools that any writer may use taking in techniques from fiction screenplays playwriting and myth Through this process Mura candidly explores the newly evolved aesthetic principles of memoir and how questions of identity occupy a central place in contemporary memoir

Holocaust Mothers and Daughters Federica K. Clementi, 2013-12-03 In this brave and original work Federica Clementi focuses on the mother daughter bond as depicted in six works by women who experienced the Holocaust sometimes with their mothers sometimes not The daughters' memoirs which record the all too human qualities of those who were persecuted and murdered by the Nazis show that the Holocaust cannot be used to neatly segregate lives into the categories of before and after Clementi's discussions of differences in social status along with the persistence of antisemitism and patriarchal structures support this point strongly demonstrating the tenacity of trauma individual familial and collective among Jews in twentieth century Europe
