Student Exploration: Flower Pollination
\(Gizmos Link\)

Directions: Follow the instructions to go through the simulation. Respond to the questions and prompts in the orange boxes.

Gizmo Warm-up

Pollination is the transfer of pollen grains from the male part of a flower, called the stamen, to the female part of a flower, which is called the pistil. This fertilizes the female flower and enables it to produce seeds and fruit. In the Flower Pollination Gizmo, you will explore how this process works.

1. On the POLLINATION tab, check that Self-pollination is selected.

How many flowers do you see?

Notice the different parts of the flower. The stigma is a sticky surface at the top of the female pistil. The male stamen consists of a long filament and a pollen-producing anther.

2. Select Cross-pollination.

How many flowers do you see?

3. How do you think cross-pollination may be different from self-pollination?

Cross-pollination needs 2 flowers to reproduce but the self pollination only needs 1 flower
