

A species is a group of organisms that are able to reproduce to give offspring that are also able to reproduce. Members of the same species have very similar characteristics (features). However, there is variation in these characteristics.

All tigers have stripes but there is variation in the stripes between each tiger.

Environmental variation

Some characteristics vary due to environmental factors in an organism's surroundings (its environment). There are living environmental factors (other organisms) and physical (non-living) environmental factors, such as the amount of sunlight. Variation caused by environmental factors is environmental variation.

All the organisms and physical environmental factors in an area form an ecosystem.

Inherited variation

Offspring inherit characteristics from their parents and these characteristics can vary (e.g. brown eyes and blue eyes). This is inherited variation.

Chromosomes, genes and DNA

An organism's characteristics are controlled by genetic information contained in a code in DNA. James Watson and Francis Crick discovered the structure of DNA by making use of the data of other scientists, such as Rosalind Franklin and Maurice Wilkins.

Each chromosome contains a long molecule of DNA. Certain sections of that DNA molecule contain the genetic information and are called genes.

In humans there are 23 different types of chromosome. Most cells have two copies of each type. Gametes, however, only have one copy of each type of chromosome. When two gametes fuse during fertilisation, they form a zygote that contains the chromosomes from both gametes.

For some characteristics, scientists can work out the probability that a child will inherit that characteristic. Probabilities are shown as percentages, decimals or fractions.

Adaptation

Animals and plants are adapted to where they live; they have characteristics that allow them to survive in that habitat.

Jack rabbits are adapted to living in a desert habitat.
