

A high-contrast, black and white photograph of a man, Jacques Julien, singing into a vintage microphone. He is wearing a dark fedora hat. The lighting is dramatic, coming from the side, which highlights his facial features and the texture of his beard while leaving much of the background and his hat in deep shadow. His mouth is open in a full, expressive note, and his eyes are looking upwards. The microphone is positioned in the lower-left foreground, partially obscuring the lower part of his face.

Leonard Cohen Seul Lamour:

Les révolutions de Leonard Cohen Chantal Ringuet, Gérard Rabinovitch, 2016-04-13 T00:00:00-04:00 L'œuvre de Leonard Cohen est ponctuée de nombreuses révolutions qui surgissent dans et par le langage qu'il soit poétique, romanesque, musical ou spirituel. Chercheurs, artistes, écrivains et traducteurs proposent ici une série de réflexions, la fois intimistes et fouillées, sur ce grand écrivain et auteur compositeur, interprète et sur son œuvre qui ne cesse d'éblouir par sa force créatrice et par son pouvoir de refléter les paradoxes de la modernité.

Leonard Cohen. Seul l'amour, 2014 La carrière de Leonard Cohen s'est déployée par vagues successives. Admirer et comprendre d'abord comme poète, il a donné l'essentiel de son message dans ses trois premiers albums. Si les suivants plus singuliers ont surtout touché par les connaisseurs des anthologies, ont rapidement greffé ces nouvelles chansons au répertoire des premières années. En même temps, des reprises par des interprètes de toutes les générations et de tous les styles, de la musique de film, des spectacles, hommages ont fait connaître son œuvre des publics toujours nouveaux. L'occasion de tournées mondiales ayant débuté en 2008, on peut dire qu'un Cohen nouveau est apparu. Formé par la culture juive et la pratique du zen, il prend aussi bien la figure d'un sage que d'un prophète aux yeux du public. Par sa maîtrise de l'écriture, il s'adresse de façon très personnelle à ses auditeurs qui reçoivent ses chansons comme des lettres qu'il leur aurait personnellement adressées. L'art de vivre qu'il enseigne est essentiellement un art d'aimer dans le contexte d'une civilisation qui décline et d'un temps qui tire sa fin. Seul l'amour offre une occasion de lumière et de rassemblement pour les cœurs éseulés et malmenés par la vie.
