Janet Crum, Samantha Schmehl Hines

Makerere Application Forms For 2015 16:

Research Universities in Africa Nico Cloete, Ian Bunting, 2018-11-09 From the early 2000s a new discourse emerged in Africa and the international donor community that higher education was important for development in Africa Within this zeitgeist of converging interests a range of agencies agreed that a different collaborative approach to linking higher education to development was necessary This led to the establishment of the Higher Education Research and Advocacy Network in Africa Herana to concentrate on research and advocacy about the possible role and contribution of universities to development in Africa This book is the final publication to emerge from the Herana project The project has also published more than 100 articles chapters reports manuals and datasets and many presentations have been delivered to share insights gained from the work done by Herana Given its prolific dissemination it seems reasonable to ask whether this fourth and final publication will offer the reader anything new This book is certainly different from previous publications in several respects First it is the only book to include an analysis of eight African universities based on the full 15 years of empirical data collected by the project Second previous books and reports were published mid project This book has benefited from an extended gestation period allowing the authors and contributors to reflect on the project without the distractions associated with managing and participating in a large scale project For the first time some of those who have been involved in Herana since its inception have had the opportunity to at least make an attempt to see part of the wood for the trees Different does not necessarily mean new An emphasis on the newness of the data and perspectives presented in this book is important because it shows that it is more than a historical record of a donor funded project Rather each chapter in this book brings to a lesser or greater extent something new to our understanding of universities research and development in Africa

richly decolonize political imaginaries The co editors introductions articulate fresh frameworks of deep place and deep time freed from eurocentric modernity paradigms indicating pathways toward decolonial collaboration and institutional change Decolonial Reconstellations offers invaluable resources for researchers and teachers in decolonial postcolonial anti colonial and Indigenous studies and will also strongly appeal to feminist anti racist Marxist and critical theory scholars across disciplines

Supporting Entrepreneurship and Innovation Janet Crum, Samantha Schmehl Hines, 2019-04-29 Libraries have recently begun doing more to support entrepreneurship and innovation within their communities This volume explores how this has come about looking at libraries from across North America Europe and Africa and helps position readers to better understand what is happening and how this can be brought to further institutions

The ^AOxford Handbook of Land Politics Saturnino M. Borrás, Jennifer C. Franco, 2025-08-29 Access to land in all its multiple meanings is necessarily diverse complex and contentious and facilitating and maintaining such access constitutes a mosaic of social relations and institutional instruments rather than the minimalist and simplistic reduction of land to land property that in turn tends to be interpreted always as individual private property

The Oxford Handbook of Land Politics offers heterodox analytical tools to help the reader make sense of the complexity of the politics of land Ugandan English Christiane Meierkord, Bebwa Isingoma, Saudah Namyalo, 2016-10-20 Ugandan English is a variety that has scarcely been noticed in past research This timely volume brings together African and European scholars in a first ever collection of articles that offer comprehensive discussions of the historical and present day sociolinguistics of English in Uganda and fine grained analyses of the structural characteristics of and attitudes to this hitherto largely unknown variety Using rich archive corpus and interview data as well as ethnographic and observational methods the various contributions paint a comprehensive picture of Ugandan English as distinct from other East African Englishes and as characterized by nativisation despite a still strong exonormative orientation reflecting the modern nation s status as a post protectorate under the influence of globalisation Apart from advancing our understanding of Ugandan English itself the individual chapters contribute to theoretical debates on language contact and variation as regards the influence of substrate languages founder populations language ideologies and socio economic factors Decolonisation after Democracy Laurence Piper, 2020-05-21 Decolonisation after Democracy addresses the provocative idea that we need to rid higher education of lingering forms of colonial knowledge This matters because in the colonial era much knowledge was put to the service of subjugating indigenous peoples and the assumptions from this era may linger into the present Examples of deep rooted and foundational forms of knowledge that carry colonial traits are normative binaries such as civilised and backward modern and traditional and rational and superstitious In addition some accounts of positive values like freedom equality justice and democracy may hide the assumption that the western experience is the norm from which other kinds are rendered imitations deviations or pathologies In this collection some of South Africa s leading political scientists and academics engage with the challenge of decolonising knowledge in the research and teaching of politics It includes new insights about the state international relations clientelism statesociety relations and land reform and introduces new ways to engage the colonial library curriculum reform and the marginality of historically black institutions Finally the contributors deal with the decolonial challenge posed by the FeesMustFall student movements reflecting on issues of revolutionary politics and gender and sexual violence This book was originally published as a special issue of Politikon Certificate of Compliance for the Annual Budget for FY ... Uganda. National Planning Authority, 2017 Language and the Construction of Multiple Identities in the Nigerian Novel Romanus Aboh, 2018-12-28 Language and the construction of multiple identities in the Nigerian novel examines the multifaceted relation between people and the various identities they construct for themselves and for others through the context specific ways they use language Specifically this book pays attention to how forms of identities ethnic cultural national and gender are constructed through the use of language in select novels of Adichie Atta and Betiang Employing an interdisciplinary approach this book draws analytical insights from critical discourse analysis literary discourse analysis and socio ethno linguistic analysis This approach enables the author to engage with the novels to illuminate the link between the ways Nigerians use language and the identities they construct Being a context driven analysis this book critically scrutinises literary language beyond stylistic borders by interrogating the micro and macro levels of language use a core analytical paradigm frequently used by discourse analysts who engage in critical discourse analysis

The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a masterful and gripping novel that will keep you speculating until the very end. The novel is a cautionary tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
