Energy and water bills have risen considerably faster than incomes in recent years and high levels of new investment in infrastructure mean that bills and charges are likely to continue to rise significantly Furthermore poorer households spend more of their incomes on household bills relative to richer households meaning that funding infrastructure through bills is more regressive than doing so through taxation Currently consumers rely solely on Government and regulators to protect their interests However no one in Government is taking responsibility for assessing the overall impact of this investment on consumer bills and whether consumers will be able to afford to pay This is a particular concern given that the poorest households are hit hardest by increases in bills
