Consumer Preferences and Acceptance of Food Products Derek V. Byrne, 2020-12-01 The acceptance and preference of the sensory properties of foods are among the most important criteria determining food choice Sensory perception and our response to food products and finally food choice itself are affected by a myriad of intrinsic and extrinsic factors The pressing question is how do these factors specifically affect our acceptance and preference for foods both in and of themselves and in combination in various contexts both fundamental and applied In addition which factors overall play the largest role in how we perceive and behave towards food in daily life Finally how can these factors be utilized to affect our preferences and final acceptance of real food and food products from industrial production and beyond for healthier eating A closer look at trends in research showcasing the influence that these factors and our senses have on our perception and affective response to food products and our food choices is timely Thus in this Special Issue collection Consumer Preferences and Acceptance of Food Products we bring together articles which encompass the wide scope of multidisciplinary research in the space related to the determination of key factors involved linked to fundamental interactions cross modal effects in different contexts and eating scenarios as well as studies that utilize unique study design approaches and methodologies

Biopolitics, Necropolitics, Cosmopolitics C.L. Quinan, Kathrin Thiele, 2021-03-25 The concepts of biopolitics and necropolitics have increasingly gained scholarly attention particularly in light of today's urgent and troubling issues that mark some lives as more or less worthy than others including the migration crisis rise of populism on a global scale homonationalist practices and state sanctioned targeting of gender sexual racial and ethnic others This book aims to nuance this conversation by emphasising feminist and queer investments and interventions and by adding the analytical lens of cosmopolitics to ongoing debates around life living and death dying in the current political climate In this way we move forward toward envisioning feminist and queer futures that rethink categories such as human and subjectivity based on classical modern premises Informed by feminist queer studies postcolonial theory cultural analysis and critical posthumanism Biopolitics Necropolitics Cosmopolitics engages with longstanding questions of biopolitics and necropolitics in an era of neoliberalism and late capitalism but does so by urging for a more inclusive and less violent cosmopolitical framework Taking account of these global dynamics that are shaped by asymmetrical power relations this fruitful posthumanist and post decolonial approach allows for visions of transformation of the matrix of inclusion and exclusion into feminist queer futures that work towards planetary social justice This book is a significant new contribution to feminist and queer philosophy and politics and will be of interest to academics researchers and advanced students of gender studies postcolonial studies sociology philosophy politics and law The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Gender Studies
