Challenging Academia Heather Piper,Else-Marie Buch Leander,2021-09-01 Some social issues and practices have become dangerous areas for academics to research and write about Academic freedom is increasingly constrained not just by long established normal factors territoriality power differentials competition protectionism but also by the increased significance of social media and the rise of identity politics and activists who treat work which challenges their world view as abusive hate speech So extreme are these pressures that some institutions and even statutory bodies now adopt policies and practices which contravene relevant regulations and laws This book seeks to draw attention to the limiting and damaging effects of academic gagging The book drawn from a special edition of Societies offers an eclectic series of international articles which may annoy some people The book challenges taken for granted mainstream assumptions and practices in a number of areas including gender mainstreaming social work education child sexual abuse the ethnic disaggregation of population groups fatherhood and masculinity the erosion of democratic legitimacy the trap of victimhood and vulnerability employment practices in universities and the challenges presented by the widespread and deliberate suppression of scholarship and research In an analytic postscript Laurent Dubreuil discusses the nature of identity politics and the manner in which its effects can be identified across the many topics covered in these challenging articles

Ecology and Literatures in English Françoise Besson,2018-12-14 In all latitudes writers hold out a mirror leading the reader to awareness by telling real or imaginary stories about people of good will who try to save what can be saved and about animals showing humans the way to follow Such tales argue that in spite of all destructions and tragedies if we are just aware of and connected to the real world around us to the blade of grass at our feet and the star above our heads there is hope in a reconciliation with the Earth This may start with the emergence or rather the return of a nonverbal language restoring the connection between human beings and the nonhuman world through a form of communication beyond verbalization Through a journey in Anglophone literature with examples taken from Aboriginal African American English Canadian and Indian works this book shows the role played by literature in the protection of the planet It argues that literature reveals the fundamental idea that everything is connected and that it is only when most people are aware of this connection that the world will change Exactly as a tree is connected with all the animal life in and around it texts show that nothing should be separated From Shakespeare's theatre to ecopoetics from travel writing to detective novels from children's books to novels all literary genres show that literature responds to the violence destroying lands men and nonhuman creatures whose voices can be heard through texts

imaginative and richly detailed study explores the deep connection between desire and recollection in Shakespeare's poetry. Drawing on cognitive science, the early modern memory arts and psychoanalysis as well as works by contemporary authors, the book shows how Shakespeare's Sonnets treat memory as a form of poetic narrative. Subjects in English Peter Uhrig, 2018-06-11. The purpose of the book is twofold. First, it tries to give a descriptive account of subjects in English. The second aim is to elucidate the status of the subject both as a concept in grammatical theory and with regard to the question whether the subject is determined by item-specific arbitrary formal restrictions in the same way as postverbal complements of the verb have been shown to be. Sadness Expressions in English and Chinese Ruihua Zhang, 2014-09-25. Winner of the Tianjin Social Science Outstanding Achievement Award. This book reports on the contrastive semantic investigation of sadness expressions between English and Chinese based on two monolingual general corpora and a parallel corpus. The exploration adopts a unique theoretical approach which integrates corpus linguistic theories on meaning as a social construct, usage and paraphrase with a corpus linguistic lexical model. It employs a new complex but workable methodology which combines computational tools with manual examination to tease meaning out of corpus evidence to compare and contrast lexical items that do not match up neatly between languages. It looks at sadness expressions both within and across languages in terms of three corpus linguistic structural categories, i.e. colligation, collocation and semantic association, preference and paraphrase, both explicit and implicit, to capture their subtle nuances of meaning, disclose the culture-specific conceptualisations encoded in them and highlight their respective cultural distinctiveness of emotion. By presenting multidisciplinary original work, Sadness Expressions in English and Chinese will be of interest to researchers in corpus linguistics, contrastive lexical semantics, psychology, bilingual lexicography and language pedagogy. The Clause in English Peter Collins, David A. Lee, 1999. The focus in this volume is on grammatical aspects of the clause in English, presenting a fine balance between theoretically and descriptively oriented approaches. Some authors investigate the status and properties of minor or fringe constructions, including deictic presentatives, non-restrictive relative clauses with that, isolated if-clauses and exceptional clauses. In some articles, the validity of conventional accounts and approaches is questioned, such as traditional constituency trees and labelled bracketings as a means of representing relationships between parenthetical elements and their hosts or traditional morphophonemic analyses as explanations for Ross's doubling constraint. While some authors question commonly made assumptions, for example those concerning the relationships of clauses to sentences and propositions or those concerning the status of post-head dependents in the NP, others appeal to new frameworks, for instance emergence theory, is used as a source of inspiration in dealing with intransitive prepositions. This collection also includes articles that adopt a solidly corpus-based approach. The Clause in English has been prepared by colleagues past and present, friends and admirers of Rodney Huddleston in order to honour his consistently outstanding contribution to grammatical theory and description. Varieties of Questions in English Conversation Elizabeth G.

Weber,1993-11-11 This book examines relations which hold between morphosyntactic form and communicative function in discourse by examining form function correlations of noninterrogative questions in ordinary English conversation So called nontypical declarative and nonclausal questions are identified functionally The role morphosyntax plays in the production and interpretation of these forms as doing questioning is then considered Speakers are shown to use specific patterns of morphosyntactic marking to enable recipients to interpret noninterrogatives as functional questions Explanations for morphosyntactic patterns found in the data are stated in terms of discourse use Make It the Same Jacob

Edmond,2019-07-30 The world is full of copies This proliferation includes not just the copying that occurs online and the replication enabled by globalization but the works of avant garde writers challenging cultural and political authority In Make It the Same Jacob Edmond examines the turn toward repetition in poetry using the explosion of copying to offer a deeply inventive account of modern and contemporary literature Make It the Same explores how poetry an art form associated with the singular inimitable utterance is increasingly made from other texts through sampling appropriation translation remediation performance and other forms of repetition Edmond tracks the rise of copy poetry across media from the tape recorder to the computer and through various cultures and languages reading across aesthetic linguistic geopolitical and technological divides He illuminates the common form that unites a diverse range of writers from dub poets in the Caribbean to digital parodists in China samizdat wordsmiths in Russia to Twitter trolling provocateurs in the United States analyzing the works of such writers as Kamau Brathwaite Dmitri Prigov Yang Lian John Cayley Caroline Bergvall M NourbeSe Philip Kenneth Goldsmith Vanessa Place Christian B k Yi Sha Hsia Y and Tan Lin Edmond develops an alternative account of modernist and contemporary literature as defined not by innovation as in Ezra Pound s oft repeated slogan make it new but by a system of continuous copying Make It the Same transforms global literary history showing how the old hierarchies of original and derivative center and periphery are overturned when we recognize copying as the engine of literary change
