Expository Discourse in Children, Adolescents, and Adults Marilyn A. Nippold,Cheryl M. Scott,2013-03-07 School success in the 21st century requires proficiency with expository discourse the use and understanding of informative language in spoken and written modalities This occurs for example when high school students read their textbooks and listen to their teachers lectures and later are asked to demonstrate their knowledge of this complex topic through oral reports and essay examinations Although many students are proficient with the expository genre others struggle to meet these expectations This book is designed to provide information on the use and understanding of expository discourse in school age children adolescents and young adults Recently researchers from around the world have been investigating the development of this genre in typical students and in those with language disorders Although many books have addressed the development of conversational and narrative discourse by comparison books devoted to the topic of expository discourse are sparse This crossdisciplinary volume fills that gap in the literature and makes a unique contribution to the study of language development and disorders It will be of interest to a range of professionals including speech language pathologists teachers linguists and psychologists who are concerned with language development and disorders

The Oxford Handbook of Assessment Policy and Practice in Music Education, Volume 2 Timothy Brophy, 2019-01-02 In the music classroom instructors who hope to receive aid are required to provide data on their classroom programs Due to the lack of reliable valid large scale assessments of student achievement in music however music educators in schools that accept funds face a considerable challenge in finding a way to measure student learning in their classrooms From Australia to Taiwan to the Netherlands music teachers experience similar struggles in the quest for a definitive assessment resource that can be used by both music educators and researchers In this two volume Handbook contributors from across the globe come together to provide an authority on the assessment measurement and evaluation of student learning in music The Handbook's first volume emphasizes international and theoretical perspectives on music education assessment in the major world regions This volume also looks at technical aspects of measurement in music and outlines situations where theoretical foundations can be applied to the development of tests in music The Handbook's second volume offers a series of practical and US focused approaches to music education assessment Chapters address assessment in different types of US classrooms how to assess specific skills or requirements and how assessment can be used in tertiary and music teacher education classrooms Together both volumes of The Oxford Handbook of Assessment in Music Education pave the way forward for music educators and researchers in the field

Handbook of Reading Disability Research Anne McGill-Franzen, Richard Allington, 2010-09-17 Bringing together a wide range of research on reading disabilities this comprehensive Handbook extends current discussion and thinking beyond a narrowly defined psychometric perspective Emphasizing that learning to read proficiently is a long term developmental process involving many interventions of various kinds all keyed to individual developmental needs it addresses traditional questions

What is the nature or causes of reading disabilities How are reading disabilities assessed How should reading disabilities be remediated To what extent is remediation possible but from multiple or alternative perspectives Taking incursions into the broader research literature represented by linguistic and anthropological paradigms as well as psychological and educational research the volume is on the front line in exploring the relation of reading disability to learning and language to poverty and prejudice and to instruction and schooling The editors and authors are distinguished scholars with extensive research experience and publication records and numerous honors and awards from professional organizations representing the range of disciplines in the field of reading disabilities Throughout their contributions are contextualized within the framework of educators struggling to develop concrete instructional practices that meet the learning needs of the lowest achieving readers
