Resources in Education ,1998 Perspectives on the Teaching of Geometry for the 21st Century C. Mammana,V. Villani,2012-12-06 In recent years geometry seems to have lost large parts of its former central position in mathematics teaching in most countries However new trends have begun to counteract this tendency There is an increasing awareness that geometry plays a key role in mathematics and learning mathematics Although geometry has been eclipsed in the mathematics curriculum research in geometry has blossomed as new ideas have arisen from inside mathematics and other disciplines including computer science Due to reassessment of the role of geometry mathematics educators and mathematicians face new challenges In the present ICMI study the whole spectrum of teaching and learning of geometry is analysed Experts from all over the world took part in this study which was conducted on the basis of recent international research case studies and reports on actual school practice This book will be of particular interest to mathematics educators and mathematicians who are involved in the teaching of geometry at all educational levels as well as to researchers in mathematics education

Gender and Fair Assessment Warren W. Willingham,Nancy S. Cole,2013-12-16 There have been many important changes in the participation of women and men in American society over the past quarter century Tests play a role in those changes by providing evidence of the diverse achievement and proficiency of women and men They aid the learning process and reflect inequalities in opportunity to learn and participate In addition they provide useful information in considering what alternatives in education and work make most sense for individuals and influence views about groups of students educational programs and a wide range of issues For all of these reasons it is important that tests assess fairly and reflect accurately the ways young people are and are not achieving as well as desired The test performance of women and men is a research topic of historical interest and has received much attention in recent years Because of this increased interest there is a great deal of new research and data available The purpose of the study presented in this volume was to review this new information with two objectives in mind to clarify patterns of gender difference and similarity in test performance and related achievements and to see what implications those findings might have for fair assessment and as a corollary examine the assessment process as a possible source of gender differences This study is interested in tests used in education to assess developed knowledge and skill In order to gain a broader view of gender similarity and difference the contributors looked at other types of measures and other characteristics of young women and men Their hope is to contribute to a firmer basis for insuring fairness in tests an objective which is particularly important as the field moves increasingly to new forms of assessment in which there is less experience Documents and Reports to Accompany Report on Civil Service
