Changing Contours of Criminal Justice Mary Bosworth, Carolyn Hoyle, Lucia Zedner, 2016 Celebrating the 50th Anniversary of the Oxford Centre for Criminology this edited collection of essays seeks to explore the changing contours of criminal justice over the past half century and to consider possible shifts over the next few decades The question of how social science disciplines develop and change does not invite any easy answer with the task made all the more difficult given the highly politicised nature of some subjects and the volatile evolving status of its institutions and practices A case in point is criminal justice at once fairly parochial much criminal justice scholarship is now global in its reach and subject areas that are now accepted as central to its study victims restorative justice security privatization terrorism citizenship and migration to name just a few were topics unknown to the discipline half a century ago Indeed most criminologists would have once stoutly denied that they had anything to do with it Likewise some central topics of past criminological attention like probation have largely receded from academic attention and some central criminal justice institutions like Borstal and corporal punishment have at least in Europe been abolished Although the rapidity and radical nature of this change make it quite impossible to predict what criminal justice will look like in fifty years time reflection on such developments may assist in understanding how it arrived at its current form and hint at what the future holds The contributors to this volume have been invited to reflect on the impact Oxford criminology has had on the discipline providing a unique and critical discussion about the current state of criminal justice around the world and the origins and future implications of contemporary practice All are leading internationally renowned criminologists whose work has defined and often re-defined our understanding of criminal justice policy and literature

The Art of Experience Dagmara Gizło, 2020-12-30 The Art of Experience provides an interdisciplinary analysis of selected plays from Ireland's premier female playwright Marina Carr Dagmara Gizło explores the transformative impact of a theatrical experience in which interdisciplinary boundaries must be crossed This book demonstrates that theatre is therapeutic and therapy is theatrical The role of emotions cognitions and empathy in the theatrical experience is investigated throughout Dagmara Gizło utilises the methodological tools stemming from modern empirically grounded psychology such as cognitive behavioural therapy or CBT to the study of theatre's transformative potential This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of theatre performance and literature and will be a fascinating read for those at the intersection of cognitive studies and the humanities

A Cultural History of Early Modern English Cryptography Manuals Katherine

Ellison,2016-06-10 While there are many surveys of cryptography none pay any attention to the volume of manuals that appeared during the seventeenth century or provide any cultural context for the appearance design or significance of the genre during the period Through close readings of five specific primary texts that have been ignored not only in cryptography scholarship but also in early modern literary scientific and historical studies this book allows us to see one origin of disciplinary division in the popular imagination and in the university when particular broad fields the sciences the mechanical arts and the liberal arts came to be viewed as more or less profitable
