Taking Stock Jürgen Kramer, 2011-04-06 Die in diesem Band zusammengestellten 35 Aufsätze aus 35 Jahren Forschung und Lehre sollen zum einen den Beitrag des Autors zur Begründung und Entwicklung der kulturwissenschaftlichen Dimension in der Anglistik seit Mitte der 1970er Jahre dokumentieren zum anderen aber auch Stationen seiner intellektuellen Biografie sichtbar machen Dabei ist sein zentrales Motiv Rechenschaft über die Arbeit in einem wie der Autor meint nach wie vor privilegierten Bereich unserer Gesellschaft abzulegen Modern Character Julian Murphet, 2023-11-27 How was modern character made or remade at the turn of the twentieth century Modern Character 1888 1905 considers a range of literary and dramatic texts showcasing the extraordinary efforts of various writers to rethink and reinvent human character during this period. Arguing that many of the most significant breakthroughs happened in the small theatres of Europe in the 1890s, the book's first section demonstrates how the countervailing currents of Naturalism and Symbolism created a vortex in which time honoured truisms about character consistency, depth and verisimilitude were jettisoned. Works by Ibsen, Strindberg, Maeterlinck and Chekhov provide evidence of a searching and critical campaign against assumed models of characterization. The second section turns to contemporary prose narratives with attention to Knut Hamsun, Oscar Wilde, Joris Karl Huysmans, Gabriele D'Annunzio, Henry James, George Egerton, Edith Wharton, Kate Chopin and Joseph Conrad to ask what writers working in the novel, novella and short story forms were doing to contest prevailing expectations about represented persons. Inconsistency, bad faith, fragmentation and unconscious motives creep into the character spaces of these fictions. Character description recedes and plots disintegrate; a penumbral negativity intrudes just where identification and sympathy might have been achieved. Ultimately, Julian Murphet proposes that the modern character emerging over this decade and a half presents a radical rethinking of a venerable category of narrative and dramatic art with profound consequences for the coming century.

Travel, Modernism and Modernity Robert Burden, 2016-03-09. Focusing on the significance of travel in Joseph Conrad, E. M. Forster, D. H. Lawrence, Henry James and Edith Wharton, Robert Burden shows how travel enabled a new consciousness of mobility and borders during the modernist period. For these authors, Burden suggests, travel becomes a narrative paradigm and dominant trope by which they explore questions of identity and otherness related to deep seated concerns with the crisis of national cultural identity. He pays particular attention to the important distinction between travel and tourism at the same time that he attends to the slippage between seeing and sightseeing, between the local character and the stereotype, between art and kitsch and between older and newer ways of storytelling in the representational crisis of modernism. Burden argues that the greater awareness of cultural difference that characterizes both the travel writing and fiction of these expatriate writers became a defining feature of literary modernism, resulting in a consciousness of cultural difference that challenged the ethnographic project of empire.

A Historical Guide to Joseph Conrad John Peters, 2010. Joseph Conrad achieved worldwide literary renown in his third language. Despite not having learned English until his twenties, Conrad succeeded in breaking new ground with his portrayal of anti-heroes, distinctive narrative style becoming a major influence on 20th century English language fiction.

R|EVOLUTIONS Jennifer Craig, Warren Steele, 2009-03-26. Can art change the world? Or can art produce new knowledge that facilitates radical change in our slowly evolving communities? If so, then we must ask: How does cultural transformation, whether subtle or slight, affect our understanding of culture and the world? Operating under the rubric of resistance and reform, R|EVOLUTIONS: Mapping Culture, Community and Change is a unique scholarly collection that seeks to illuminate current understandings of art, aesthetics and the revolutionary impulse. M. Finch, 2013-08-15 On the eve of the twentieth century Joseph Gallieni and Hubert Lyautey claimed to have devised a new approach to the consolidation of colonial acquisitions Their method emphasized the primacy of political action over military action called for the replacement of military columns with a creeping occupation stressed the importance of economic organisational development in ensuring the lasting stability of newly acquired imperial possessions and called for the unification of civil and military powers in the hands of the soldier who would act as the first administrator of the colony This method was the culmination of colonial experiences in Tonkin and Madagascar in the final decades of the nineteenth century Following Gallieni's career path across these colonies A Progressive Occupation The Gallieni Lyautey Method and Colonial Pacification in Tonkin and Madagascar 1885-1900 focuses first on the painful process of pacification in Tonkin locating the emergence of the method and Gallieni's own achievements in their proper context. The volume's focus then moves across the Indian Ocean to Madagascar where Gallieni, combining the roles of Commander in Chief and Governor General, was able to play out his nascent colonial method on a grand scale. Meanwhile, his subordinates, with Lyautey at the forefront, were able to interpret his method in the execution of their missions. Drawing heavily on French archival sources, Michael Finch sheds new light on colonial conflict and consolidation during the age of European imperial expansion, illustrates the differences, gaps, and transgressions that exist between the theory and the practice of pacification, and raises broader questions about the French army, empire, and civil-military relations.
