Weather, Religion and Climate Change Sigurd Bergmann, 2020-12-13 Weather Religion and Climate Change is the first in depth exploration of the fascinating way in which the weather impacts on the fields of religion art culture history science and architecture In critical dialogue with meteorology and climate science this book takes the reader beyond the limits of contemporary thinking about the Anthropocene and explores whether a deeper awareness of weather might impact on the relationship between nature and self Drawing on a wide range of examples including paintings by J M W Turner medieval sacred architecture and Aristotle's classical Meteorologica Bergmann examines a geographically and historically wide range of cultural practices religious practices and worldviews in which weather appears as a central sacred force of life He also examines the history of scientific meteorology and its ambivalent commodification today as well as medieval weather witchery and biblical perceptions of weather as a kind of barometer of God's love Overall this volume explores the notion that a new awareness of weather and its atmospheres can serve as a deep cultural and spiritual driving force that can overcome the limits of the Anthropocene and open a new path to the Ecocene the age of nature Drawing on methodologies from religious studies cultural studies art history and architecture philosophy environmental ethics and aesthetics history and theology this book will be of great interest to all those concerned with studying the environment from a transdisciplinary perspective on weather and wisdom Hydrometeorology Kevin Sene,2009-12-12 This book describes recent developments in hydrometeorological forecasting techniques for a range of timescales from short term to seasonal and longer terms It conveniently brings together both meteorological and hydrological aspects in a single volume Monthly Weather Review ,1976 The School Review ,1913 Environing Media Adam Wickberg,Johan Gärdebo,2022-08-22 This edited volume interrogates the role of media technologies in the formation of environments understood both as physical spaces and as epistemological constructs about them Using the concept of environing media the book advances a deeper understanding of how media processes defined here as the storage process and transmission of data influence human Earth relations Virtually all aspects of the interconnected global ecological crisis can be related to the intensification and acceleration of scaling up the human imprint on the planet by technological means Combining ideas from the humanities arts and humanistic social sciences Environing Media offers a perspective on how we entered the current geological epoch the Anthropocene The ten chapters explore colonial planetary and elemental environing media with cases including indigenous history ocean monitoring computational history climate modeling environmental history the air as medium the biosphere and the Earth system Drawing upon a breadth of examples and expertise in history anthropology geography cultural history science and technology studies and media studies the book discovers a novel approach to human Earth histories that demonstrates how technologies have mediated between humans and environments and in the process contributed to a societal feedback loop between knowing and doing environment each impacting the other Environing Media is a timely addition for scholars and upper level students in environmental humanities and media studies The Open Access version of chapters 1 2 3 4 5 7 8 and 9 are available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/e/9781003282891> Chapters 1 2 4 5 and 7 have been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 CC BY NC ND 4.0 license Chapters 3 8 and 9 have been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution CC BY 4.0 license Earth System Science NASA Advisory Council. Earth System Sciences Committee,1988 Explores the intellectual journey leading to Thomas Kuhn's theory of scientific revolutions PAHs and Related Compounds Alasdair N. Neilson,2013-11-11 Environmental Chemistry is a relatively young science Interest in this subject however is growing very rapidly and although no agreement has been reached as yet about the exact content and limits of this interdisciplinary discipline there appears to be increasing interest in seeing environmental topics which are based on chemistry embodied in this subject One of the first objectives of Environmental Chemistry must be the study of the environment and of natural chemical processes which occur in the environment A major purpose of this series on Environmental Chemistry therefore is to present a reasonably uniform view of various aspects of the chemistry of the environment and chemical reactions occurring in the environment The industrial activities of man have given a new dimension to Environmental Chemistry We have now synthesized and described over five million chemical compounds and chemical industry produces about hundred and fifty million tons of synthetic chemicals annually We ship billions of tons of oil per year and through mining operations and other geophysical modifications large quantities of inorganic and organic materials are released from their natural deposits Cities and metropolitan areas of up to 15 million inhabitants produce large quantities of waste in relatively small and confined areas Much of the chemical products and waste products of modern society are released into the environment either during production storage transport use or ultimate disposal These released materials participate in natural cycles and reactions and frequently lead to interference and disturbance of natural systems     Holt Science ,1986     Radar in Meteorology David Atlas,2015-03-30 This fully illustrated volume covers the history of radar meteorology deals with the issues in the field from both the operational and the scientific viewpoint and looks ahead to future issues and how they will affect the current atmosphere With over 200 contributors the volume is a product of the entire community and represents an unprecedented compendium of knowledge in the field     Climates of the British Isles Elaine Barrow,Mike Hulme,2014-01-14 Our understanding of climate and its role in human affairs has changed markedly over recent years as have climate observation systems and modelling capabilities Reliance on recent weather statistics to provide a guide for future climate is no longer viable Evidence of human induced climate change has placed climate high on political and the media agendas Climates of the British Isles provides a comprehensive account of what we know about climate and changing climates at the end of the twentieth century Integrating the historical and geographical dimensions of climate the crucial link between past and future climatic conditions is examined through the geographical lens of the British Isles Climates of past ages are reconstructed and full descriptions of present climate are illustrated by a wealth of graphs maps and images Important climate data sets are provided Marking the twenty fifth anniversary of the internationally acclaimed Climatic Research Unit this book distils much of the leading research of present and recent members of the unit and presents an authoritative accessible view of climatic change and prospects for the next millenium and beyond
