- 1) Name the factors responsible for the shift in physicians' attitudes over the last 30 years toward truth-telling with cancer patients. Discuss the use of placebos in medicine.

Difference:
Beneficence → consequences of the practice permitting active killings would be worse than consequences of permitting foregoing treatment
Duty to avoid killing → there is simply something inherently wrong about killing someone
Autonomy/informed consent → letting die at the request of patient or surrogate is always prima facie right because it is required to respect autonomy while respect for patient autonomy never calls for killing another
No difference:
Consequentialists → no difference because results are the same
- 4) What are the main differences between principlism and casuistry? What are the guiding "principles of biomedical ethics"? Are there limits to patient autonomy? Beneficence? Define paternalism; is there a place for paternalism in modern medicine?
- 5) What are the primary components of the Hippocratic Oath? What is its core principle?
Oath of initiation: vow of allegiance to physician's teacher, pledge to loyalty and secrecy
Code: dietetics, pharmacology, surgery
