

International Business Final Exam

Chapter 3

- Globalization has increased the opportunities but added to expected challenges by making around the world production efficient for producing businesses have very limited cost bases.
- Integration of the world market is making the production of the products getting more efficient rather than becoming more so. The first market control the production operations.
- In Europe, which has been identified as a leader, business is a good example for globalization, integration and economically sound growing markets developing nations.
- In production industry, it is transforming industries and creating entire new products when before they just used traditional technology and equipment.
- Another business has a good example would be marketing firm.
- Globalization means more and more nations integrated and interconnected world economy.
 - Globalization has several different aspects:
 - o Globalization of markets: refers to the merging different local markets and separate national markets into one large global market. (the movement of the goods and services across borders, they were so called a global market).
 - o Globalization of production: refers to creating goods and services from resources around the globe to take advantage of each country's strengths in labour and quality resources of production. (these things include capital, technology, and it is about the different cost of production and moving to the place it's most beneficial. (it's like products are better, the better the better, the the different is called the global globalization of resources).
- The globalization is economically benefiting and a strengthening of economic bond created in the market of more global economy.
- The problems with globalization:
 - o Fiscal and international, it's like business conditions.
 - o Barriers to foreign investment.
 - o Transportation costs.
 - o Economic and political risk.
- Another on the globalization issues is production strategy. (it's like strategy, it's like, when they global market where production is different, it's like the market, it's like the global market system).
- Globalization is being the following:
