

IV Solution Cheat Sheet

A quick reference guide on the different intravenous solutions.

Type	Use	Special Considerations
Normal Saline (NS) 0.9% NaCl in Water - Crystallloid Solution - Isotonic (308 mOsm)	- Increases circulating plasma volume when red cells are adequate - Shock - Fluid replacement in patients with diabetic ketoacidosis - Hyponatremia - Blood transfusions - Resuscitation - Metabolic Alkalosis - Hypercalcemia	- Do not use in patients with heart failure, edema, or hypernatremia, because NSS replaces extracellular fluid and can lead to fluid overload. - Replaces losses without altering fluid concentrations. - Helpful for Na⁺ replacement
1/2 Normal Saline (1/2 NS) 0.45% NaCl in Water - Crystallloid Solution - Hypotonic (154 mOsm)	- Water replacement - Raises total fluid volume - DKA after initial normal saline solution and before dextrose infusion - Hypertonic dehydration - Sodium and chloride depletion - Gastric fluid loss from nasogastric suctioning or vomiting.	- Use cautiously; may cause cardiovascular collapse or increase in intracranial pressure. - Don't use in patients with liver disease, trauma, or burns. - Useful for daily maintenance of body fluid, but is of less value for replacement of NaCl deficit. - Helpful for establishing renal function. - Fluid replacement for clients who don't need extra glucose (diabetics)
Lactated Ringer's (LR) - Normal saline with electrolytes and buffer - Isotonic (275 mOsm)	- Replaces fluid and buffers pH - Hypovolemia due to third-space shifting. - Dehydration - Burns - Lower GI tract fluid loss - Acute blood loss	- Has similar electrolyte content with serum but doesn't contain magnesium. - Has potassium therefore don't use to patients with renal failure as it can cause hyperkalemia - Don't use in liver disease because the patient can't metabolize lactate; a functional liver converts it to bicarbonate; don't give if patient's pH > 7.5. - Normal saline with K⁺, Ca⁺⁺, and lactate (buffer) - Often seen with surgery
