In the House of the Serpent Handler Julia C.

Duin, 2024-01-12 In the House of the Serpent Handler offers an intimate and engrossing look at the latest generation of Pentecostal believers who take up venomous snakes as a test of their religious faith Focusing on several preachers and their families in six Appalachian states journalist Julia C Duin explores the impact that such twenty first century phenomena as social media and reality television have had on rituals long practiced in obscurity As Duin reveals the mortal snakebite suffered by pastor Mack Wolford in 2012 marked the passing of the torch to younger preachers Jamie Coots and Andrew Hamblin who were featured in the 2013 series Snake Salvation on the National Geographic Channel Seeing their participation in the show as a way of publicizing their faith and thus winning converts Coots and Hamblin attempted to reinvent the snake handling tradition for a modern audience The use of the internet particularly Facebook became another key part of their strategy to spread their particular brand of Christianity However Coots's own death in 2014 was widely reported after the TV series was canceled while Hamblin who emerges as the central figure in the book was arrested and tried after a shooting incident involving his estranged wife His hopes of becoming a serpent handling superstar seemingly dashed Hamblin spent several months in prison emerging more determined than ever to keep to the faith By the end of the narrative he has begun a new church where he can pass on the tradition to yet another generation Duin's thorough sympathetic reporting and lively style bring the ecstatic church services she witnessed vividly to life and through interviews and quotations from the principals Facebook postings she has allowed them to express their beliefs and reveal their everyday lives in their own words She also gives the reader an up close view of how a reporter pursues a story and the various difficulties encountered along the way Together these elements frame a striking picture the young practitioners of a century old custom one so often dismissed as bizarre by outsiders adjusting to the challenges of the new millennium Julia C Duin the former religion editor for the Washington Times has published articles in the Washington Post the Wall Street Journal and other national publications She is the author of five previous books including most recently Days of Fire and Glory The Rise and Fall of a Charismatic Community Identity, Community, and Learning Lives in the Digital Age Ola Erstad, Julian Sefton-Green, 2012-10-22 Recent work on education identity and community has expanded the intellectual boundaries of learning research From home based studies examining youth experiences with technology to forms of entrepreneurial learning in informal settings to communities of participation in the workplace family community trade union and school research has attempted to describe and theorize the meaning and nature of learning Identity Community and Learning Lives in the Digital Age offers a systematic reflection on these studies exploring how learning can be characterized across a range of whole life experiences The volume brings together hitherto discrete and competing scholarly traditions sociocultural analyses of learning ethnographic literacy research geo spatial location studies discourse analysis comparative anthropological studies of education research and actor network theory The contributions are united through a focus on the ways in which learning shapes lives in a digital age AIM Report Accuracy in Media, inc, 1995 The Conservation Professional's Guide to Working with People Scott A. Bonar, 2012-09-26 Successful natural resource management is much more than good science it requires working with landowners meeting deadlines securing funding supervising staff and cooperating with politicians The ability to work effectively with people is as important for the conservation professional as it is for the police officer the school teacher or the lawyer Yet skills for managing human interactions are rarely taught in academic science programs leaving many conservation professionals woefully unprepared for the daily realities of their jobs Written in an entertaining easy to read style The Conservation Professional's Guide to Working with People fills a gap in conservation education by offering a practical how to guide for working effectively with colleagues funders supervisors and the public The book explores how natural resource professionals can develop skills and increase their effectiveness using strategies and techniques grounded in social psychology negotiation influence conflict resolution time management and a wide range of other fields Examples from history and current events as well as real life scenarios that resource professionals are likely to face provide context and demonstrate how to apply the skills described The Conservation Professional's Guide to Working with People should be on the bookshelf of any environmental professional who wants to be more effective while at the same time reducing job related stress and improving overall quality of life Those who are already good at working with people will learn new tips while those who are petrified by the thought of conducting public meetings requesting funding or working with constituents will find helpful commonsense advice about how to get started and gain confidence
