The following "must haves" for librarians and professionals from agencies and state/tertiary learning providers has emerged as a model for a range of agencies and state/tertiary learning providers and why this feature is critical to their success in the 21st century. It is a model that is being used by many.

1. The first step in the process of the development of a new product is the identification of a market need. This is done by conducting market research, which involves gathering information about the needs and wants of potential customers. This information is then used to develop a product concept that meets the needs of the market.
2. The second step is the development of a business plan. This plan outlines the company's goals, objectives, and strategies for achieving them. It also includes a detailed financial forecast, which shows the expected revenues and expenses over a period of time. The business plan is used to secure financing from investors and lenders.
3. The third step is the development of a prototype. This is a physical model of the product that is used to test the design and to demonstrate the product's capabilities to potential customers. The prototype is typically made of a material that is easy to work with, such as wood or plastic, and it is often made in a small quantity.
4. The fourth step is the development of a marketing plan. This plan outlines the company's strategies for promoting the product and for reaching potential customers. It includes information about the company's target market, its competitive advantage, and its marketing mix (product, price, place, and promotion).
5. The fifth step is the development of a production plan. This plan outlines the company's strategies for manufacturing the product. It includes information about the company's production facilities, its production process, and its production schedule.
6. The sixth step is the development of a distribution plan. This plan outlines the company's strategies for distributing the product. It includes information about the company's distribution channels, its distribution network, and its distribution schedule.
7. The seventh step is the development of a sales plan. This plan outlines the company's strategies for selling the product. It includes information about the company's sales force, its sales process, and its sales schedule.
8. The eighth step is the development of a customer service plan. This plan outlines the company's strategies for providing customer service. It includes information about the company's customer service team, its customer service process, and its customer service schedule.
9. The ninth step is the development of a financial plan. This plan outlines the company's strategies for managing its finances. It includes information about the company's financial goals, its financial objectives, and its financial strategies.
10. The tenth step is the development of a legal plan. This plan outlines the company's strategies for complying with the law. It includes information about the company's legal obligations, its legal risks, and its legal strategies.
