Global Economic History Robert C. Allen, 2011-09-15 Why are some countries rich and others poor In 1500 the income differences were small but they have grown dramatically since Columbus reached America Since then the interplay between geography globalization technological change and economic policy has determined the wealth and poverty of nations The industrial revolution was Britain's path breaking response to the challenge of globalization Western Europe and North America joined Britain to form a club of rich nations by pursuing four policies creating a national market by abolishing internal tariffs and investing in transportation erecting an external tariff to protect their fledgling industries from British competition banks to stabilize the currency and mobilize domestic savings for investment and mass education to prepare people for industrial work Together these countries pioneered new technologies that have made them ever richer Before the Industrial Revolution most of the world's manufacturing was done in Asia but industries from Casablanca to Canton were destroyed by western competition in the nineteenth century and Asia was transformed into underdeveloped countries specializing in agriculture The spread of economic development has been slow since modern technology was invented to fit the needs of rich countries and is ill adapted to the economic and geographical conditions of poor countries A few countries Japan Soviet Russia South Korea Taiwan and perhaps China have nonetheless caught up with the West through creative responses to the technological challenge and with Big Push industrialization that has achieved rapid growth through investment coordination Whether other countries can emulate the success of East Asia is a challenge for the future ABOUT THE SERIES The Very Short Introductions series from Oxford University Press contains hundreds of titles in almost every subject area These pocket sized books are the perfect way to get ahead in a new subject quickly Our expert authors combine facts analysis perspective new ideas and enthusiasm to make interesting and challenging topics highly readable

The Case of Japan, 1868-1937* Peer Vries, 2022-08-01 In this book Peer Vries is the first scholar to provide an extensive test of the claim that industrialization in East Asia in particular in Japan between the Meiji Restoration and World War Two would have been much more labour intensive than industrialization in the West He does this by systematically comparing the role and importance of labour and capital in Japan and in a number of Western countries at a similar stage of their industrial development He uses macro economic data as well as specific observations by people at the time It turns out that there is no reason to distinguish a specific labour intensive Japanese route of industrialization His comparative analysis provides us with a better understanding of the logic of industrialization in both West and East     The Oxford Handbook of American Economic History Volume 1 Edited by Louis P.
