The Fourteen Ideas

Beauty	Courage
Equity	Freedom
Goodness	Grief
Immortality	Hope
Justice	Truth
Warfare	Wisdom
Glory & Honor	Change

In his National work, The Great Man, Matthew Adler discussed the importance of relating themes of literature to the great ideas and philosophies of Western culture. In order for a reader to comprehend cultural progression and the progression of history, the reader must understand the great ideas behind the stories of literature as well as the motivations for events of history. By applying a reader with a selected idea such as beauty, truth, or goodness, the reader of a study guide facilitates the reader's understanding of the author's purpose in writing.

In Christian Calk's explanation of "It is good" is more than a conclusion for the completion of the work of the day. This declarative statement was in the times of goodness and completion. Thus, with this phrase the author was expected to deliver his work completed by the judgment and progression of the work created. The reader is asked to deliver his work back to his world, a world before the creation and standards of the current or the beginning. Therefore, the reader is asked to find the phrase that connects to each author or each work that is read.
