(Chapter – 1) (The Living World)
(Class – XI)

Question 1:

Why are living organisms classified?

Answer 1:

A large variety of plants, animals, and microbes are found on earth. All these living organisms differ in size, shape, colour, habitat, and many other characteristics. As there are millions of living organisms on earth, studying each of them is impossible. Therefore, scientists have devised mechanisms to classify all living organisms. These methods of classification are based on rules and principles that allow identification, nomenclature, and finally classification of an organism.

For example, based on certain principles, once an organism is identified as an insect, it will be given a scientific name and then grouped with other similar organisms. Thus, various groups or taxon include organisms based on their similarity and differences.

Therefore, the biological classification helps in revealing the relationship between various organisms. It also helps in making study of organisms easy and organized.

Question 2:

Why are the classification systems changing every now and then?

Answer 2:

Millions of plants, animals, and microorganisms are found on earth. Many of these have been identified by the scientists while many new species are still being discovered around the world. Therefore, to classify these newly discovered species, new systems of classification have to be devised every now and then. This creates the requirement to change the existing systems of classification.

Question 3:

What different criteria would you choose to classify people that you meet often?

Answer 3:

To classify a class of forty students, let us start the classification on the basis of sexes of the students. This classification will result in the formation of two major groups- boys and girls.

Each of these two groups can be further classified on the basis of the names of the students falling in these groups.

Since it is possible that more than one student can have a particular name, these names can be further divided based on the surnames.

Since there is still some chance that more than one student can have the same surname, the final level of classification will be based on the roll numbers of each student.

Question 4:

What do we learn from identification of individuals and populations?

Answer 4:

The knowledge of characteristics of an individual or its entire population helps in the identification of similarities and dissimilarities among the individuals of same kind or between different types of organisms. It helps the scientists to classify organisms in various categories.

Question 5:

Given below is the scientific name of Mango. Identify the correctly written name.

Mangifera Indica

Mangifera indica

Answer 5:

In binomial system of nomenclature, the generic name of a species always starts with a capital letter whereas the specific name starts with a small letter. Therefore, the correct scientific name of Mango is Mangifera indica.

Final Solutions Richard M. Lerner,R. C. Lewontin,Benno Muller-Hill,2010-11 The nature nurture debate continues to stir controversy in the social and behavioral sciences How much of human behavior and development can be attributed to biology and how much to the environment Can either be said to determine human development And what are the implications of each view for society In this important study a noted developmental psychologist contributes to this debate by confronting the difficult issue of doctrines of human development and the consequences for society of deriving political programs and public policy from them Beginning with the premise that scientific ideas are not neutral but can be used for either good or evil Richard Lerner considers the recent history of one such idea biological determinism which at times has had the backing of respected scientists intellectuals and political leaders During this century biological determinism has been coupled with political philosophies that hold that some people are inherently better than others This has meant that certain groups of people Jews Blacks Native Americans women have been stigmatized because of supposedly innate even biological differences with sometimes disastrous consequences The most notorious instance was Nazi Germany where racial science given legitimacy by the scientific community became a cornerstone of the Nazi Final Solution Meanwhile theories of biological determinism continue to find adherents within the scientific community Konrad Lorenz who was awarded a Nobel Prize in 1973 was a critical figure in the development of the most recent manifestation of biological determinism sociobiology Lerner examines the work of Lorenz and current sociobiologists and the implications of their claims for modern society He fears that biological determinism may again be co-opted to serve the political agenda of today's reactionary politicians In fact Lerner notes sociobiologists have had to face the fact that organizations such as the fascist National Front party in Britain and its counterparts in France and the United States have selectively seized upon sociobiology to fuel their notions of genetically superior and inferior races

Kathryn Montgomery,2005-11-10 How Doctors Think defines the nature and importance of clinical judgment Although physicians make use of science this book argues that medicine is not itself a science but rather an interpretive practice that relies on clinical reasoning A physician looks at the patient s history along with the presenting physical signs and symptoms and juxtaposes these with clinical experience and empirical studies to construct a tentative account of the illness How Doctors Think is divided into four parts Part one introduces the concept of medicine as a practice rather than a science part two discusses the idea of causation part three delves into the process of forming clinical judgment and part four considers clinical judgment within the uncertain nature of medicine itself In How Doctors Think Montgomery contends that assuming medicine is strictly a science can have adverse side effects and suggests reducing these by recognizing the vital role of clinical judgment This is a book that will be read with pleasure by anyone interested in how medicine is done and it is a book that should be required reading for all students starting their clinical training Journal of the Royal Society of Medicine Montgomery has certainly written a piece that will stimulate people to think more deeply about medical and wider health professional practice It is a text I will recommend to students and colleagues PsycCRITIQUES Biomimetics Yoseph Bar-Cohen,2005-11-02 Nature is the world s foremost designer With billions of years of experience and boasting the most extensive laboratory available it conducts research in every branch of engineering and science Nature s designs and capabilities have always inspired technology from the use of tongs and tweezers to genetic algorithms and autonomous legged robots Visions of Nature Rian J.
