Among these is a chapter on educational software and multimedia programs, chapters on books about science and teaching, directories and guides to science trade books and periodicals for teachers and students. Another section features institutional resources. One chapter lists about 600 science centers, museums, and zoos where teachers can take middle school students for interactive science experiences. Another chapter describes nearly 140 professional associations and U.S. government agencies that offer resources and assistance. Authoritative, extensive, and thoroughly indexed, and the only guide of its kind, Resources for Teaching Middle School Science will be the most used book on the shelf for science teachers, school administrators, teacher trainers, science curriculum specialists, advocates of hands-on science teaching, and concerned parents.

The ICC Handbook of Cereals, Flour, Dough & Product Testing Stanley P. Cauvain, Linda S. Young, 2009. Presents an introduction to the techniques and information required for the testing and analysis of cereals throughout the entire grain chain from breeding through harvesting and storage to processing and the manufacture of cereal-based food products. Sustainable Agriculture Reviews Eric Lichtfouse, 2013-02-12. Sustainable agriculture is a rapidly growing field aiming at producing food and energy in a sustainable way for humans and their children. Sustainable agriculture is a discipline that addresses current issues such as climate change, increasing food and fuel prices, poor nation starvation, rich nation obesity, water pollution, soil erosion, fertility loss, pest control, and biodiversity depletion. Novel solutions are proposed based on integrated knowledge from sciences as diverse as agronomy, soil science, molecular biology, chemistry, toxicology, ecology, economy, philosophy, and social sciences. Because actual society issues are now intertwined globally and fast-developing sustainable agriculture will bring solutions to build a safer world, this book series gathers review articles that analyze current agricultural issues and knowledge, then propose alternative solutions. It will therefore help all scientists, decision makers, professors, farmers, and politicians who wish to build a safe agriculture, energy, and food system for future generations.
