through a hierarchical structure, a hierarchy of complexity, from relatively basic to the most sophisticated and challenging development first, centrally coordinated, then more local structures as to become the operational individual challenges. This complex hierarchy governs production and distribution, integrated value chains derived from value based integrated business models, supported by them. Through a parallel flow structure, projects, their own management and work, are coordinated, their sequencing of other activities, development of large infrastructure, other projects, changes are tracked, followed through various levels, from the initial planning and coordination to a completed project.

For instance, research on the increasing reliance of people on the Internet revealed that people's reliance on the Internet for information is not just a function of their age, but also of their education level. People with higher education levels are more likely to use the Internet for information. This suggests that education plays a role in the use of the Internet for information. The researchers also found that people with higher education levels are more likely to use the Internet for information.
