National Human Development Report, Lebanon United Nations Development Programme, 1998 The Arab Human Development Report, 2009 A Political Economy of Lebanon, 1948-2002 Toufic Gaspard, 2003-12-01 This book is about the laissez faire strategy for economic development a strategy inspired by neoclassical mainstream economics advocated by the Washington Consensus and implemented by the Bretton Woods institutions Mainstream economics has taken legitimacy from the historical failure of command economies But this view has not been balanced by an examination of the performance of laissez faire economies the closest to the pure market model Lebanon provides a unique test case in this regard The book assesses Lebanon's development during 1948-2002 including its industrial and financial performance The dynamics of the laissez faire system is separately studied from a Post Keynesian perspective highlighting institutional behavior It is found that laissez faire is not a sufficient condition for economic development and can even be counterproductive

The Lessons of Lebanon Samir Makdisi, 2004-02-26 Since 1945 over 200 intrastate conflicts have taken place in countries that achieved independence from colonial rule after the second world war The case of Lebanon offers a striking illustration of these interlocking influences on projects of national economic development The persistently sectarian nature of the country's political institutions the relatively poor quality of governance and the major civil war that engulfed the country from 1975 to 1990 together define not only the context in which the achievements and failures of Lebanese development must be assessed but also the continuing challenges that it must face in the era of globalization This book offers an in depth analysis of Lebanese economic development during the second half of the twentieth century with special emphasis on the civil war and its aftermath Makdisi offers a definitive assessment of the principal phases of national development since Lebanese independence in the 1940s and a study of those conditions requisite for sustainable development for Lebanon as for many other developing countries

The Arab Human Development Report 2002, 2002 The report looks at the progress Arab countries have made in human development over the past three decades To facilitate further development the report emphasises the need to overcome shortcomings in the Arab institutional structure These relate to freedom of thought religion education free elections and justice the empowerment of women and knowledge

World Development Report 2011 World Bank, 2011-05-01 The 2011 WDR on Conflict Security and Development underlines the devastating impact of persistent conflict on a country or region's development prospects noting that the 1.5 billion people living in conflict affected areas are twice as likely to be in poverty Its goal is to contribute concrete practical suggestions on conflict and fragility Civil Society and Political Reform in Lebanon and Libya Carmen Geha, 2016-02-12 Lebanon and Libya have undergone critical political events in recent years. However, demands for reform from civic institutions during these transitions have not led to concrete political decisions. Civil Society and Political Reform in Lebanon and Libya reveals the deeply entrenched historical patterns and elements of continuity that have led to path dependent outcomes in the political transitions of both countries. Motivated by personal experiences as an activist in Lebanon, the author draws together a wide range of data from participant observations, nation wide surveys, interviews, and focus groups in a careful analysis of these two civil society led reform campaigns. The study demonstrates how the combination of weak states and power sharing agreements marginalizes civic organisations and poses institutional constraints on the likelihood of reform. Written by an active participant in the political events discussed, this book offers new insight into two countries which present comparable and informative case studies. As such, it is a valuable resource for students, scholars, and policymakers interested in civil society politics and reform in the Middle East and North Africa. Women's Lives around the World Susan M. Shaw, Nancy Staton Barbour, Patti Duncan Ph.D., Kryn Freehling-Burton Ph.D., Jane Nichols, 2018-01-04 Providing an in depth look at the lives of women and girls in approximately 150 countries, this multivolume reference set offers readers transnational and postcolonial analysis of the many issues that are critical to the success of women and girls. For millennia, women around the world have shouldered the responsibility of caring for their families. But in recent decades, women have emerged as a major part of the global workforce, balancing careers and family life. How did this change happen? And how are societies in developing countries responding and adapting to women's newer roles in society? This four volume encyclopedia examines the lives of women around the world with coverage that includes the education of girls and teens, the key roles women play in their families, careers, religions, and cultures, how issues for women intersect with colonialism, transnationalism, feminism, and established norms of power and control. Organized geographically, each volume presents detailed entries about the lives of women in particular countries. Additionally, each volume offers sidebars that spotlight topics related to women and girls in specific regions or focus on individual women's lives and contributions. Primary source documents include sections of countries' constitutions that are relevant to women and girls, United Nations resolutions, and national resolutions regarding women and girls, and religious statements and proclamations about women and girls. The organization of the set enables readers to take an in depth look at individual countries as well as to make comparisons across countries. World Development Report 2005 World Bank, 2004 Firms and entrepreneurs of all types, from microenterprises to multinationals, play a central role in growth and poverty reduction. Their investment decisions drive job creation, the availability and affordability of goods and services for consumers, and the tax revenues governments can draw on to fund health, education, and other services. Their contribution depends largely on the way governments shape the investment climate in each location through the protection of property rights, regulation, and taxation strategies for providing infrastructure interventions in finance and labor markets and broader governance features such as corruption The World Development Report 2005 argues that improving the investment climates of their societies should be a top priority for governments Drawing on surveys of nearly 30 000 firms in 53 developing countries country case studies and other new research the Report explores questions such as What are the key features of a good investment climate and how do they influence growth and poverty What can governments do to improve their investment climates and how can they go about tackling such a broad agenda What has been learned about good practice in each of the main areas of the investment climate What role might selective interventions and international arrangements play in improving the investment climate What can the international community do to help developing countries improve the investment climates of their societies In addition to detailed chapters exploring these and related issues the Report contains selected data from the World Bank's new program of Investment Climate Surveys the Bank's Doing Business Project and World Development Indicators 2004 an appendix of economic and social data for over 200 countries This Report offers practical insights for policymakers executives scholars and all those with an interest in economic development

new ways of thinking behaving and living in a more than human world      Global Health Nursing Michele Jean Upvall, Jeanne Leffers, 2014-04-14 Print CourseSmart      (Re)constructing Armenia in Lebanon and Syria Nicola Migliorino, 2008-06-01

For almost nine decades since their mass resettlement to the Levant in the wake of the Genocide and First World War the Armenian communities of Lebanon and Syria appear to have successfully maintained a distinct identity as an ethno culturally diverse group in spite of representing a small non Arab and Christian minority within a very different mostly Arab and Muslim environment The author shows that while in Lebanon the state has facilitated the development of an extensive and effective system of Armenian ethno cultural preservation in Syria the emergence of centralizing authoritarian regimes in the 1950s and 1960s has severely damaged the autonomy and cultural diversity of the Armenian community Since 1970 the coming to power of the Asad family has contributed to a partial recovery of Armenian ethno cultural diversity as the community seems to have developed some form of tacit arrangement with the regime In Lebanon on the other hand the Armenian community suffered the consequences of the recurrent breakdown of the consociational arrangement that regulates public life In both cases the survival of Armenian cultural distinctiveness seems to be connected rather incidentally with the continuing search for legitimacy of the state      Modernization, Democracy, and Islam Shireen T. Hunter, Huma Malick, 2005-01-30

The Islamic world has a poor record in terms of modernization and democracy However the source of this situation is not religion but factors including colonialism international economic and trading systems and the role of the military among others Recognizing these themes allows the consideration of possible remedies for change in the Muslim world The Islamic world has a poor record in terms of modernization and democracy However the source of this situation is not religion Islam but rather factors including colonialism international economic and trading systems and the role of the military among others Recognizing these themes allows the consideration of possible remedies for change in the Muslim world The distinguished scholars contributing to this volume identify key factors some intrinsic to the Muslim world and some external that contribute to Islam s current predicament Contrary to much prevailing thought and opinion Islam is neither monolithic nor impervious to change It is neither anti democratic nor inherently anti modernization Islam itself as this book shows is not the root cause of the malaise of the Islamic world      Spoils of Truce Reinoud Leenders, 2012-10-15

In Spoils of Truce Reinoud Leenders documents the extensive corruption that accompanied the reconstruction of Lebanon after the end of a decade and a half of civil war With the signing of the Ta if peace accord in 1989 the rebuilding of the country s shattered physical infrastructure and the establishment of a functioning state apparatus became critical demands Despite the urgent needs of its citizens however graft was rampant Leenders describes the extent and nature of this corruption in key sectors of the Lebanese economy and government including transportation health care energy natural resources construction and social assistance programs Exploring in detail how corruption implicated senior policymakers and high ranking public servants Leenders offers a clear eyed perspective on state institutions in the developing world He also addresses the overriding role of the Syrian leadership's interests in Lebanon and in particular its manipulation of the country's internal differences. His qualitative and disaggregated approach to dissecting the politics of creating and reshaping state institutions complements the more typical quantitative methods used in the study of corruption. More broadly, Spoils of Truce will be uncomfortable reading for those who insist that power sharing strategies in conflict management and resolution provide some sort of panacea for divided societies hoping to recover from armed conflict. Internally Displaced People Janie Hampton, 2014-10-14 The number of internally displaced people far outnumbers estimated refugees who have fled their countries. The majority of displaced populations survive with very little security or legal protection. Responding to the needs of internally displaced people is one of the greatest humanitarian challenges of our time. Revised and updated from the first edition, this volume includes information on internal displacement in 47 different countries across the globe that is to say all countries experiencing conflict-induced displacement at the time of publication. There is discussion of the causes of displacement, patterns of flight, protection concerns, and international response. Human Rights and Human Development in the Arab and Islamic World Raphael Israeli, 2022-08-29 For many years Islam has behaved in total authoritarian domination over masses of populations with a total disregard of basic human rights based on the Sharia, holy law of Empire and rule over its own Muslim subjects. Even more so over a multitude of Christian, Jewish, and other minorities. Islam has ignored Western developments since the American and French Revolutions which little by little developed the liberal predominance of human rights. The prevailing rationale in Islam was and has remained that Allah's Law as expressed in His Holy edicts forever takes priority over any law that humans can produce. While similar beliefs were modified in other faiths and creeds which resulted in Western philosophical thought due to the established separation of Church and state, Islam has never known such a separation and has perpetuated the ancient traditional views rationalizing that while human-made laws are ephemeral and transient, Allah's are immutable and eternal. Hence the severe laws on apostasy in Islam which forbid Muslims the right to deny their faith under threat of death. Even the religions of Christianity and Judaism are under restriction in Islamdom. If their followers wish to convert, they are permitted to do so only to Islam, which is why the record of human rights in Islam is so poor. Women's Entrepreneurship and Culture Guelich, Ulrike, Bullough, Amanda, Manolova, Tatiana S., Schjoedt, Leon, 2021-07-31 Women's entrepreneurship is an effective way to combat poverty, hunger, and disease, to stimulate sustainable business practices, and to promote gender equality. Yet deeply engrained cultural norms often prescribe gender-specific roles and behaviors that severely constrain the opportunities for women's entrepreneurial activities. This excellent new volume of work from the Diana Group explores this paradox.
