People - Marine Mammal Interactions Andrew Butterworth, Mark P. Simmonds, 2017-08-15 Our relationships with marine mammals are complex We have used them as resources and in some places this remains the case viewed them as competitors and culled them again ongoing in some localities been so captivated and intrigued by them that we have taken them into captivity for our entertainment and developed a lucrative eco tourism activity focused on them in many nations When we first envisaged this special topic we had two overarching aims Firstly we hoped to generate critical evaluation of some of our relationships with these animals Secondly we hoped to attract knowledgeable commentators and experts who might not traditionally publish in the peer reviewed literature We were also asking ourselves a question about what responsibility mankind might have to marine mammals on our rapidly changing planet The answer to the question can or should humans have responsibility for the lives of marine mammals when they are affected by our activities is in our opinion yes and the logical progression from this question is to direct research and effort to understand and optimise the actions reactions and responses that mankind may be able to take We hope that the papers in this special issue bring some illumination to a small selection of topics under this much wider topic area and prove to be informative and stimulating

Startup Capitalism Robyn Klingler-Vidra, Ramon Pacheco Pardo, 2025-04-15 In Startup Capitalism Robyn Klingler Vidra and Ramon Pacheco Pardo explore the place of startups in contemporary East Asian economies The last few decades have seen East Asian governments provide increasing support for startups new high growth technologically oriented firms Yet as the authors observe such initiatives do not necessarily benefit the growth of startups as challengers to large established firms Rather they often enable startups to function as boosters for the competitiveness of these firms Startups in short are both disruptors to and resources for big businesses Klingler Vidra and Pacheco Pardo demonstrate this dual role by examining the evolution of startup centric policies in Japan South Korea Taiwan and China They show that in the region what they call startup capitalism an economic and political system in which startups contribute to employment innovation and growth can take multiple forms Rich with empirical detail Startup Capitalism reveals how and why startups can end up working with or even for large firms to drive a country s technological capabilities

Deconstructing Money Laundering Risk Noémi També Bearpark,2022-07-14 This book examines the interpretation of the risk based approach RBA and its application across the banking industry It explores the ways conflicting risk interpretation and deconstruction of money laundering risk have unintended consequences across the banking industry Furthermore it offers a theoretical framework that can be adopted and implemented by risk practitioners to address money laundering ML risks The interpretation and application of the RBA influences the way money laundering risk is perceived presented and managed often resulting in misalignment among stakeholders Moreover AML practitioners interpret money laundering ML risk as an entity that can be contained largely in ignorance of the fact that ML risk is self referential The book therefore addresses complex inter system feedback phenomena that lead to de risking and re risking and offers a new ML risk communication framework on this basis It will be of value to researchers and also to stakeholders within financial institutions financial intelligence units and regulators in the fight against money laundering Organic Chemistry

Education Research into Practice Jay Wackerly,Sarah Zingales,Michael Wentzel,Gautam Bhattacharyya,Brett McCollum,2025-03-25 This Research Topic has three main goals 1 provide a platform for instructors of organic chemistry to showcase evidence based methods and educational theories they have utilized in their classrooms 2 build new and strengthen existing connections between educational researchers and practitioners and 3 highlight how people have used chemical education based research in their teaching practice There are places in the literature dedicated for chemical education research CER however there is not a clear avenue for those that have changed their teaching methods based on published CER and report their experiences Creating this article collection will foster collaboration between chemical education researchers and teachers of organic chemistry This opportunity allows these instructors to share evidence based practices experiences challenges and innovative approaches from CER literature and beyond This Research Topic bridges discipline based education research and the scholarship of teaching and learning which will help advance organic chemistry education and improve student outcomes The Mathematical-Function Computation Handbook Nelson H.F.

Beebe,2017-08-20 This highly comprehensive handbook provides a substantial advance in the computation of elementary and special functions of mathematics extending the function coverage of major programming languages well beyond their

s manual with test questions and PowerPoints is available to adopters The Ethics of Public Health Paternalism T M Wilkinson, 2024-12-30 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4.0 International licence It is free to read on the Oxford Academic platform and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations The Ethics of Public Health Paternalism is about policies that try to stop people damaging their own health From the point of view of public health advocates if people did not smoke or drank less alcohol or kept off junk food and sugary liquids they would tend to be healthier Hence such tactics as taxing tobacco restricting the sale of alcohol and limiting the density of fast food outlets Because these tactics appear to limit freedom of choice they are often pejoratively described as the actions of a nanny state that overvalues health and wrongly infringes on the autonomy of adults But many of us want to be healthy rather than ill and alive rather than dead Does a state really nanny us when it uses its power to make us healthier If it does should it stop Some public health policies might reduce inequities of health or save costs in medical treatment or correct market failures But as this book shows lots would not The best case for many public health interventions is paternalistic aiming to steer people away from making unhealthy choices against their own interests But even though it is the best case it often fails It overvalues health and undervalues autonomy It exaggerates the influence of addiction and the marketing of unhealthy products Except for smoking we do not have the evidence needed to show that unhealthy choices are so mistaken as to justify the interventions Much of what modern public health does when it tries to stop adults damaging their health has not been justified The Ethics of Public Health Paternalism applies political and moral philosophy to the ideas of both supporters and critics of public health interventions It uses philosophical analysis of the values of health and well being to explain what sort of evidence is needed to support public health interventions thus exposing a major gap in the arguments of public health advocates and it engages in detail with empirical evidence for instance about smokers regrets
