Geophysical Union as part of the Geophysical Monograph Series Volume 178 Hydrothermal systems at oceanic spreading centers reflect the complex interactions among transport cooling and crystallization of magma fluid circulation in the crust tectonic processes water rock interaction and the utilization of hydrothermal fluids as a metabolic energy source by microbial and macro biological ecosystems The development of mathematical and numerical models that address these complex linkages is a fundamental part the RIDGE 2000 program that attempts to quantify and model the transfer of heat and chemicals from mantle to microbes at oceanic ridges This volume presents the first state of the art picture of model development in this context The most outstanding feature of this volume is its emphasis on mathematical and numerical modeling of a broad array of hydrothermal processes associated with oceanic spreading centers By examining the state of model development in one volume both cross fertilization of ideas and integration across the disparate disciplines that study seafloor hydrothermal systems is facilitated Students and scientists with an interest in oceanic spreading centers in general and more specifically in ridge hydrothermal processes will find this volume to be an up to date and indispensable resource

Cooling DHC Systems* presents the latest information on the topic providing valuable information on the distribution of centrally generated heat or cold energy to buildings usually in the form of space heating cooling and hot water As DHC systems are more efficient and less polluting than individual domestic or commercial heating and cooling systems the book provides an introduction to DHC including its potential contribution to reducing carbon dioxide emissions then reviews thermal energy generation for DHC including fossil fuel based technologies those based on renewables and surplus heat valorization Final sections address methods to improve the efficiency of DHC Gives a comprehensive overview of DHC systems and the technologies and energy resources utilized within these systems Analyzes the various methods used for harnessing energy to apply to DHC systems Ideal resource for those interested in district cooling teleheating heat networks distributed heating thermal energy cogeneration combined heat and power and CHP Reviews the application of DHC systems
