

7 STEPS TO MOTIVATE YOUR CHILD

by Big Life Journal

1

Help your child discover their passions

Invite your child to create a DREAM BOARD where they can post images and text that remind them of what they want.

Help them set goals

Help them connect the dots between their vision of the future (their dream board) and the goals that will get them there.

Encourage independent thinking

Let them choose their dreams and goals without intervening. Let them decide on HOW they're going to reach their goals.

Collaborate

Join your child in the creation of a dream board or goal ladders. You can also invite their siblings and/or friends to join.

Do not hover

Instead of micromanaging, let them work independently, and be available for help and feedback when they ask for it.

Make them the teachers

Encourage them to teach a younger sibling or a friend how to make a dream board or a goal ladder.

Hold the rewards, instead reflect back

When they reach a goal instead of giving a reward, encourage them to reflect on how the accomplishment of a goal has helped them grow as a person.

challenges some of the traditional thinking regarding motivation that rewards can actually be damaging to motivation and that there may be better long term ways to tap into a child's own internal motivation. What others say about Motivate Your Child: Our young child became very dependent on rewards to do anything and expected rewards for everything. This book helped us realise there are better ways to motivate our child. A great book linking theory to daily examples and a useful summary at the end of each chapter. It is hard to motivate a teenager but this book actually helped them to motivate themselves. Our son was playing computer games all the time and had no interest in school or extra curricular activities. We were worried it's not easy getting them to understand their own motivation especially when competing with his games but it helped us definitely get him moving again and making more effort in other parts of his life. A good review of modern and compassionate thinking for motivating children through the various ages with the theory wrapped up with some practical examples and how to's. I really struggled with one of my children who seemed so listless. It gave me some great insight and I really started to make some headway with getting them to want to do things instead of me just telling them. An excellent and practical guide. It's not easy but I really did start to understand what motivated my different children and it wasn't always the same thing.

How to Behave So Your Children Will, Too! Sal Severe, 2003-07-29 In this eye opening resource Dr Sal Severe taps his twenty five years of experience as a school psychologist and parenting workshop leader to show that a child's behavior is often a reflection of the parent's behavior and by making changes themselves parents can achieve dramatic results in their children. Instead of focusing on what children do wrong Dr Severe teaches parents to emphasize the positive, to be consistent and to be more patient. He shows parents how to teach their children to behave, listen and be more cooperative and how moms and dads can manage their own anger and prevent arguments and power struggles. Packed with concrete strategies for dealing with homework hassles, ending tantrums and other common problems, Dr Severe's empathetic common sense book will be welcome everywhere.

Motivation André Iland, 2013-01-22 So what gets you up in the morning What keeps you going Why do you keep on going These are just some of the questions that may pop in your head as you think about motivation Every person on the planet has their own motivation in life enabling everyone to go through the different life areas and phases and get the most out of it It is also sad to say that there are people who don't have any It has been said that the difference between a person who is constantly developing and growing and the person who does not is motivation Motivation plays a key role in a person's outlook in life achievements and level of satisfaction and happiness On the same note motivation is a very important factor of success A person who lacks motivation has no enthusiasm ambition and zest and is generally unhappy and unsatisfied Because of that he gets no results or when he does he only gets mediocre ones On the other hand a motivated person is very energetic successful and happy as he achieves his goals and gets great results in his endeavors Certainly nobody wants to do something for nothing There is always that something we hopefully want in return for an effort and sacrifice The life and blood of motivation is reward It is that thing that inspires us and entices us to take necessary action The reward can come in different kinds such as material rewards recognition and personal satisfaction or gratification The reward is regarded as the end of every means Motivation in itself is fueled by ambition and desire The strength of motivation largely relies on the clearness of the mental picture of the goal or the reward as well as the intensity of the desire to achieve it No matter how great attractive beneficial or enticing a certain reward may be if the person has no ambition or no desire to have it motivation will also be absent There may also be instances where you may have the desire to take action or to achieve something but if that desire is not strong enough no work will ever get done and achievement will only be just a wish on a star
