

A People's History of the United States Howard Zinn

Chapter 1: "Columbus, the Indians, and Human Progress"

1. According to Zinn, what was Columbus's motivation for his discovery of the United States?

Zinn's motivation was to depict history from the viewpoint of the oppressed people rather than the viewpoint of politicians or historians.

2. According to Zinn, what is Columbus's greatest contribution to history?

Columbus's greatest contribution was to bring to the attention of the world the existence of the Americas, which had been inhabited by millions of people.

3. What is Zinn's main criticism of Columbus's voyage to the Americas?

Zinn's main criticism is that Columbus's voyage was motivated by greed and a desire for power, rather than by a desire to discover new lands or to help the people of the Americas.

4. What impact did Columbus's voyage have on the Americas?

Columbus's voyage led to the discovery of the Americas, which had a profound impact on the world. It led to the establishment of European colonies in the Americas, which led to the exploitation of the native people.

5. Internally, how much evidence is there that shows Columbus to represent indigenous peoples?

There is very little evidence that shows Columbus to represent indigenous peoples. Zinn argues that Columbus was a greedy and power-hungry man who was motivated by a desire to enrich himself and his country. He was not interested in the welfare of the native people.
