Enabling Occupation (1997, 2002)

- Canadian Model of Occupational Performance (CMOP), the Person-Environment-Occupation (PEO) Model and the Occupational Performance Process Model (OPPM).

Enabling Occupation II (2007) presents the scholarship and evidence to firmly ground occupational therapy in occupation and enablement.

- Canadian Model of Occupational Performance and Engagement (CMOP-E) which portrays an occupational perspective that includes and extends beyond occupational performance;
- Canadian Model of Client-Centred Enablement (CMCE) which portrays a spectrum of enablement skills based on enablement foundations (beliefs, values, assumptions, concepts) to alert practitioners to the core competence and power relations in occupational therapy's client-centred practice; and,
- Canadian Practice Process Framework (CPPF) which portrays eight action points and alternative pathways in the process of practice clients.
