Essays in Contemporary Fields of Economics George Horwich, James P. Quirk, 1981 This volume honors Emanuel T Weiler the founder and first dean of Purdue University's School of Management and of the Krannert Graduate School of Management Beginning in the mid 1950s Weiler created a unique academic environment within which innovative and lasting contributions were made to both the teaching and content of economics and management Members of the original economics faculty recruited by Weiler as well as several of their students wrote this collection of essays All but one of the papers were prepared expressly for the volume and have not been published previously The essays cover diverse areas which evolved from Weiler's leadership The work has four major topical divisions Economic Theory Applied Economics Macroeconomics and Economics Education plus a section of four memoirs

Essays on the Economics of Migratory Fish Stocks Ragnar Arnason, Trond Bjørndal, 2012-12-06 Following the publication of seminal papers by professors H S Gordon in 1954 and A D Scott in 1955 active research has led to rapid progress in our understanding of the economics of fisheries Fishing however is a complicated activity involving intricate interactions between man made fishing capital and naturally produced fish stocks in an inherently dynamic and stochastic setting Consequently in spite of significant advances important sections of fisheries economics remain largely unexplored One such area is the economics of migratory fish stocks In 1985 the editors of this volume embarked on a research project concerned with the optimal utilization of common Nordic fish stocks A fundamental feature of some of the most important of these fish stocks such as the Atlanto Scandian herring and the Icelandic capelin is their migratory behaviour Not only do the migrations continuously alter the economic conditions for harvesting these species They also result in the periodical transfer of stock concentrations from one exclusive fisheries jurisdictions to another It was readily apparent that this behaviour constituted a crucial determinant of the appropriate harvesting pattern of these stocks More importantly however migrations are by no means a unique feature of Nordic fish stocks In fact it appears that migratory behaviour is exhibited albeit in varying degrees by all species of fish It therefore stands to reason that migrations constitute an important aspect of the economics of fisheries in general

Essays on a Mature Economy: Britain After 1840 Deirdre McCloskey, 2013-11-05 These unique papers were originally read at a conference on the new economic history of Britain at Harvard in 1970 and each is accompanied by a summary of the discussion that followed it The participants of the conference represented a broad range of scholars from both sides of the Atlantic The first eleven papers deal with a variety of topics covering a period from 1840 to the 1920s They focus on the performance of the British economy and especially its businessmen during the time of Britain's industrial maturity and relative decline The papers and discussions reached a novel conclusion that contrary to commonly held opinion the British economy performed well and that British businessmen were not lacking in entrepreneurial vigour compared with their German or American counterparts But even more important for British historiography than this finding was the demonstration that economic and statistical methods can be applied successfully to the study of economic history The papers in the concluding section discuss the origins and development of the new economic history and show that as a substantial supplement to work along more traditional lines its methods and application are both desirable and possible This collection serves as an interesting report of research into a key period in British history and also as a useful introductory account of the new economic history in the United Kingdom This book was first published in 1971

Three Essays in Labor Economics Gábor Kézdi, 2003 Essays in International Economics Ananth Ramanarayanan, 2007
