

2024 ECONOMICS 12 MACROECONOMICS ESSAYS (P1)

A. CIRCULAR FLOW

1. Discuss in detail the markets within the FOUR-SECTOR model. (28 marks)

INTRODUCTION

- ✓ Market is the mechanism that brings buyers and sellers together to exchange goods and services. ✓✓
- ✓ Markets coordinate economic activities and determine prices of goods and services. ✓✓

BODY

PRODUCT AND FACTOR MARKETS

Product market/Goods/Output markets ✓

- Product market is where goods and services are exchanged for money. ✓✓
- E.g. Shoprite retailer. ✓
- These are markets for consumer goods and services. ✓✓
- In economics a distinction is made between goods and services:
- Goods are defined as any tangible items such as clothing, food cars that satisfy human wants or need. ✓✓
- Capital and consumer goods are traded in these markets. ✓✓
- Capital goods market are trading buildings and machinery. ✓✓
- Consumer goods markets are trading durable consumer goods, semi-durable goods and non-durable goods. ✓✓
- Services are defined as non-tangible actions e.g. wholesalers and retailer, transport and financial markets. ✓✓

Factor market/Resource/Input markets ✓

- Factor market is where factors of production are traded. ✓✓ e.g. labour is hired and capital is borrowed. ✓✓
- Households sell factors of production in this market. ✓✓
- These services earn wages for labour, interest for capital, rent for natural resources and profits for entrepreneurship. ✓✓
- Labour can be bought and sold in this market. ✓✓
- Factor market includes labour, property and financial markets. ✓✓
 - ✓ Product markets and factor markets are related in the sense that the demand for factor services is a derived demand. ✓✓

World Development Report 2015 World Bank, 2014-12-04 Development economics and policy are due for a redesign In the past few decades research from across the natural and social sciences has provided stunning insight into the way people think and make decisions Whereas the first generation of development policy was based on the assumption that humans make decisions deliberatively and independently and on the basis of consistent and self interested preferences recent research shows that decision making rarely proceeds this way People think automatically when deciding they usually draw on what comes to mind effortlessly People also think socially social norms guide much of behavior and many people prefer to cooperate as long as others are doing their share And people think with mental models what they perceive and how they interpret it depend on concepts and worldviews drawn from their societies and from shared histories The World Development Report 2015 offers a concrete look at how these insights apply to development policy It shows how a richer view of human behavior can help achieve development goals in many areas including early childhood development household finance productivity health and climate change It also shows how a more subtle view of human behavior provides new tools for interventions Making even minor adjustments to a decision making context designing interventions based on an understanding of social preferences and exposing individuals to new experiences and ways of thinking may enable people to improve their lives The Report opens exciting new avenues for development work It shows that poverty is not simply a state of material deprivation but also a tax on cognitive resources that affects the quality of decision making It emphasizes that all humans including experts and policy makers are subject to psychological and social influences on thinking and that development organizations could benefit from procedures to improve their own deliberations and decision making It demonstrates the need for more discovery learning and adaptation in policy design and implementation The new approach to development economics has immense promise Its scope of application is vast This Report introduces an important new agenda for the development community others in the graduate series Education, Inequality and Social Class Ron Thompson, 2019-02-25 Education Inequality and Social Class provides a comprehensive discussion of the empirical evidence for persistent inequality in educational attainment. It explores the most important theoretical perspectives that have been developed to understand class based inequality and frame further research. With clear explanations of essential concepts, this book draws on empirical data from the UK and other countries to illustrate the nature and scale of inequalities according to social background, discussing the interactions of class based inequalities with those according to race and gender. The book relates aspects of inequality to the features of educational systems, showing how policy choices impact on the life chances of children from different class backgrounds. The relationship between education and social mobility is also explored using the concepts of social closure, positionality and social congestion. The book also provides detailed discussions of the work of Pierre Bourdieu and Basil Bernstein, two important theorists whose contributions have generated thriving research traditions much used in contemporary educational research. Education Inequality and Social Class will be essential reading for postgraduate and advanced undergraduate students engaged in the study of education, childhood studies and sociology. It will also be of great interest to academics, researchers and teachers in training. Universities Handbook, 2014 Designing Learning with Multimodality in English Medium of Education (EME) Classrooms Across Asia Fei Victor Lim, Jack Pun, 2025-06-12 This book provides evidence based and pedagogically focused analyses of a variety of multimodal resources to scaffold learning in contexts of English Medium Education (EME) in Asia. The contributing authors are active researchers in the field of EME and multimodality across the primary, secondary and tertiary levels from Hong Kong, Indonesia, Japan, Singapore, South Korea, Taiwan and Thailand. They explore both the latest theoretical conceptions on the design of EME by harnessing the affordances of multimodality as well as practical applications of multimodal pedagogies for the teaching and learning of specific subjects, particularly STEM subjects. They provide examples of EME lessons with annotated notes to showcase good practice. The Oxford Handbook of Law and Economics Francesco Parisi, 2017 The Oxford Handbook of Law and Economics provides a broad overview of numerous current and developing topics in the field of law and economics. With contributions by over one hundred experts in the field, within one work the volume covers issues ranging from as far as Law and Neuroeconomics to European Union Law and Economics to Feminist Theory and Law and Economics. Its detail and breadth make it an invaluable reference book and contribution to the field. Expectations Arie Arnon, Warren Young, Karine van der Beek, 2020-03-20 This book provides a unique historical perspective on expectations in economic theory and applications of expectations models in economic history. Based on papers presented at the 2017 Thomas Guggenheim Conference, it brings together the work of economists, historians of economics and economic historians on issues and events concerning expectations in economics and economic history. The contributions address: i) the history of expectations models; ii) growth expectations and political economy; iii) controversies regarding expectations methods and models iv expectations in theory and reality and v expectations in economic history The book opens with a lecture by Thomas Guggenheim Prize winner Duncan Foley on the evolution of expectations in modern economic thought The remaining content is divided into two parts the first of which focuses on the utilization of expectations in the ancient and meso periods of high theory i e from Smithian to Keynesian approaches The papers cover topics such as modern applications of expectations in both Tobinesque Phillips and Harrodian Solowian contexts and the debate between Friedmanite and Keynesian approaches to expectation formation In turn the last part presents essays on the role of economic expectations in connection with historical events and contexts ranging from the early 20th century to World War II and on the application of expectations theory to hyperinflation and stabilization taking Israel as a case study
